LAKE STORM TOLL INCREASES

4 SHIPS ARE SUNK; 50 DROWN

Cleveland, O., Oct. 23.—With the loss of the steamer Merida established beyond a doubt, a total of four lake steamers went to the bottom of Lake Erie in Friday's storm. The total loss of life is 50. So far as known not a man of the crew of 23, of the Merida, survived the tragedy.

The Marshal F. Butters sank with no loss of life, all 13 of her crew being saved.

The D. F. Filer went down with six of her crew, only the captain surviving.

The James B. Colgate's crew of 22 with the single exception of the captain perished.

Three bodies of the Merida were picked up by the steamer W. B. Matthews in mid lake yesterday and taken into Toledo today. Four bodies were found bearing Merida life belts by the steamer Charlotte Breitang and landed at Detroit. Reports from another ship sent out from a Canadian port to hunt for the Merida today was that the wreckage had been sighted but no survivors and no bodies were found. The Merida was due at Buffalo Sunday with a cargo of pyrites ore. She was commanded by Captain H. L. Jones, of Buffalo. The ship was of 1,100 tons capacity and 360 feet long. She was built in 1892.

Captain Walter Grashaw, sole survivor in a crew of twenty-two men of the steamer James B. Colgate, was battling for life in a hospital at Conneaut, Ohio, today following his rescue yesterday.

Captain Grashaw of the Colgate was picked up in Lake Erie on a life raft by the Marquette and Bessemer car ferry number two after he had been at the mercy of the storm for 34 hours. He lives in Cleveland.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 23.—Sixteen members of the crew of the steamer L. Edward Hines, including Captain F. M. McKeige, Jr., of New York, were drowned when the steamer was sunk in the Caribbean Sea 45 miles east of Belize, British Honduras, in the tropical hurricane on October 15, according to a wireless message received.

21 Villages, 30,000 Prisoners Taken By British In Somme Drive

(Copyright 1916 by The Associated Press)
BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—More than three and one-half months of battle on the Somme, with the heaviest concentration of artillery, infantry and every type of war material, and the most skillful and desperate fighting the world has ever known, has resulted in marked development of British fighting efficiency and of means for reducing the losses of the attackers. In the way of concrete achievements, the British have taken 30,000 prisoners, or a little less than 1,500 for each of the twenty-one villages captured, with an average population of about 300 souls. They have taken 125 guns, 169 trench mortars, and trench guns and 429 machine guns. They have not lost a gun.

The task of the British was made especially difficult by the fact that they were confronted at the outset with a most powerful line of trench fortifications. More over every village was a fortress which had to be besieged and stormed. The British have driven back the Germans on a front of eleven miles, to a depth of four to eight miles.

When spring comes peasants will plow and seed will be sown behind the line which for two years had lain fallow under the storm of shells. In Eriecourt and Mametz, villages taken on July 1, trees with their trunks torn and their foliage blasted by shells, have bravely thrown out fresh shoots, while fresh crops of grass are hiding the shell craters in neighboring fields and carpeting the seamed earth trodden by the British in their early charges. Former citizens of captured villages are requesting that they be allowed to return to them and build new homes on the ruins of their old ones. The offensive has consisted of intervals of preparation and siege work after each place for another general attack. Through July, owing to the heavy cost of taking the first line trenches, the British casualties probably were heavier than the Germans. Through August when over a large part of the front the Germans were out of their second as well as their first line system of defenses and the battle became one of digging and fighting in the open for both sides, casualties were about even. As the British kept up the offensive their exposure necessarily was greater. Yet from all information the correspondent can gain, both from British officers of all grades who have been in the fighting and (Continued On Page Six)

RUMANIA'S BIGGEST PORT AND RAILROAD TERMINUS CAPTURED BY VON MACKENSEN

London, Oct. 23.—Field Marshal Von Mackensen's campaign in Dobrudja has resulted in the capture of one of its principal objectives, the city of Constanza.

The occupation of this special Black Sea port and easterly terminus of the railway line to interior Rumania is officially reported by Berlin today. It announces also that the troops of the Central Powers have crossed the railway to the east of Marfatlar, thirteen miles inland.

On the westerly wing of Von Mackensen's line his troops are approaching Tohernaovoda on the Danube, which is of even greater importance from a military standpoint than Constanza by reason of the bridge on which the railroad from Constanza crosses the river there.

Petrograd admits the continuation of the Russo-Rumanian retreat in Dobrudja, declaring however, that the Russians and Rumanians are offering stubborn resistance as they fall back.

On the North Teutonic pressure is also being applied in the attempt to crush Rumania between the two jaws of the Teutonic military machine but the success of the operation seems less pronounced.

The Rumanians, with Russian help, apparently are making successful stands in the various passes leading from Transylvania to Rumanian territory. In some of these hilly regions, notably in the Trotus Oltava and Slanic Valleys, Rumanian forces are reported to have driven General Von Falkenhayn's troops slightly backward.

Divergent reports of the result of the fighting in the Cerna river region southeast of Monastir on the Macedonian front come from the opposing camps. Sofia announces successful development of the Bulgarian counter attack, while a Bulgarian failure to regain important lost ground in the battle for Monastir is reported in entente war office statements.

On the western front along the Somme the French have made another successful push in the vicinity of the Peronne-Bapaume road capturing the spur known as No. 128 northwest of Sailly-Saillies, according to today's Paris bulletin.

Petrograd reports the slackening of the battle in the Narayuvka river region in Galicia, where Berlin yesterday announced that an important Teutonic victory had been gained. The repulse of a Teutonic attempt to cross the Baldurka north of Brody, in the district northeast of Lemberg, is alluded.

The British war office announces another attack by a German aeroplane on an English town, following yesterday's raid on Sherborne.

Margate, the seaside resort in Kent, 80 miles southeast of London was visited this morning but only slight damage is said to have been done by the German machines. Two persons were slightly injured. The hostile aircraft was pursued by British aeroplanes.

Central Powers Score Big Gain

Berlin, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—The Rumanian fort of Constanza has been captured by the Germans, the war office announced today.

Troops of the Central Powers have crossed the railway line running between the Black Sea port of Constanza and the river Danube at a point to the east of Marfatlar, the official announcement says. The fortress of Constanza was taken by German and Bulgarian troops.

On the left wing of Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army, the statement adds, the Germans and their allies are approaching the Danube town of Tohernaovoda.

Attacks launched by British and French forces against the German positions between Le Sars and Rancourt, in the Somme region were repulsed yesterday with sanguinary losses, adds the official statement. On the north bank of the Somme the tremendous artillery battle was continued yesterday. During the night the Germans withdrew their line of defense north of Chaumes, south of the river Somme, the German official statement adds, to a prepared position in the northern part of Chaumes Wood.

The total repulse of the Russian forces from the western bank

GERMAN AIRSHIP RAIDS ENGLAND

London, Oct. 23.—A hostile aeroplane appeared today over Margate, on the southeastern coast of England and dropped three bombs. Two persons were injured.

The following official account of the attack was given out here today:

"A hostile aeroplane was reported over Margate at 10:05 o'clock. Three bombs were dropped in the Cliftonville district of the town.

Slight damage was caused to a hotel, and one man and one woman were slightly injured.

"British aeroplanes went up in pursuit of the raider, who made off in a southerly direction."

Paris, Oct. 23.—Four tons of projectiles have been dropped by a French aeroplane on 21 machine guns on blast furnaces north of Metz and on the Metz and Thionville stations, the war office announced today in its report of aviation activities. It was secured on all the objectives, it is declared. Another French Avia bombardier factories at Rombach.

WARSHIPS ATTACKED

Berlin, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—It is semi-officially announced that the vessel torpedoed on Thursday was the small cruiser Muenchen which was slightly damaged and returned to the harbor.

The British admiralty announced late Saturday that a German light cruiser of the Kolberg class had been torpedoed on Thursday morning in the North Sea by a British submarine. The statement said that when last seen the cruiser was steaming slowly toward German waters and was in evident difficulty. The Muenchen was built in 1904, and is a vessel of 4,350 tons.

Berlin, Oct. 23.—(Wireless to Sayville)—A British destroyer off the Flanders coast was struck by a bomb from a German aeroplane on Sunday, the Admiralty announced today.

The statement follows: "A German seaplane squadron on the afternoon of October 21 successfully attacked with bombs British sea forces off the Flanders coast. One hit on a destroyer was observed. Notwithstanding heavy shelling all the raiders returned unharmed."

A report issued by the department of agriculture today estimates the earnings of trappers of North America last year at not less than $20,000,000, although exports of raw furs were only about half the normal proportion.

The success of the industry is attributed largely to fur and animal as protective legislation. Thirty-nine states in addition to Alaska now have such legislation.

Trainmen's Organizations Approve Wilson's Record, Communication Is Read

At the meetings of the various locals Sunday, the following communication from the National Legislative Bureau of the Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, with headquarters in Washington, was read:

Dear Sirs and Brothers: In the face of the approaching elections, and in view of the many requests received at this office for information regarding legislation affecting the interests of labor, we, your National Legislative Representatives, desire to set forth below a brief and concise history of legislation which has been passed during the present administration which has been beneficial to the laboring men of this country. It is a most significant fact that never before in the history of the United States has there been enacted into law legislation advancing and protecting the interests of the laboring man as has been enacted during the past three and one-half years, and it is our earnest desire that all laboring men know what has been done in their behalf.

1. Organizations of labor and farmers taken from the purview of the anti-trust act.
2. Limitations of the use and prevention of the abuse of the writ of injunction in labor disputes.
3. Legislation defining and restricting punishment for alleged contempt of injunction writs and providing jury trial in contempt cases.
4. Department of Justice prohibited from using anti-trust appropriation funds to prosecute labor and farmers' organizations under the anti-trust act.
5. Passage of seamen's law, abolishing involuntary servitude, providing better treatment of seamen, and improving life-saving provisions on vessels at sea.
6. Old conciliation, mediation and arbitration act repealed. New law enacted, with permanent officials appointed to administer it in behalf of railroad employees engaged in operating service.

7. Eight-hour law enacted for women and child workers in the District of Columbia.
8. Eight-hour law passed for employees under the Alaska coal land act.
9. Public construction of Alaska railroad.
10. Industrial education provided with appropriations for farmers and rural residents.
11. Taylor system, stop-watch, and speeding-up methods in the United States navy yards, gun factories, arsenals and torpedo stations abolished.
12. Piecework prohibited in Postoffice Department, Washington, D. C.
13. Public construction of battleships, transports, and other vessels in United States navy yards extended. Repairs to vessels of the navy to be made in government instead of private yards. Steadier work assured to employees of government navy yards.
14. Licensed officers, such as masters, mates, and pilots, guaranteed right to quit, and protected when reporting defects of their vessels to government inspectors.
15. Bureau of Mines act extended and strengthened. Ten new experiment stations provided.
16. Senatorial investigation of industrial dispute in coal fields of West Virginia, whereby peace was restored, the eight-hour day secured, check-weighmen provided, and 10 per cent increase in wages gained; right of organization guaranteed and other improved working conditions included.
17. Compensation for injuries act extended to postoffice employees.
18. Locomotive boiler inspection act extended to cover locomotive engines and tenders.
19. Leave of absence with pay of employees of government printing office extended from 26 to 30 days per year.
20. Investigation of the industrial disputes in the Colorado copper fields and the Michigan copper fields, in which were exposed intolerable conditions under which labor suffered.

BELL-ANS Absolutely Removes Indigestion. One package proves it. 25c at all druggists.

21. Increase in the wages of the metal trade mechanics employed by the government.
 22. Increased appropriations for the Children's Bureau and for the Department of Labor.
 23. The child-labor law, which prohibits the shipment in interstate commerce of the products of factories employing children under 14 years of age.
 24. The Children's Bureau. Its efforts have been directed toward ascertaining the relations between poverty, disease and mortality. It has developed evidence strongly tending to show that infant mortality increases in direct proportion to the decrease of wages, and decreases in direct proportion to the increase of wages.
 25. The income tax, which was long demanded by labor.
 26. The workmen's compensation law, applicable to all government employees.
 27. Prevented a reduction in wages and installation and collection of rents for employees on the Panama Canal Zone.
 28. Hours of service act amended to provide a minimum penalty of $100 for violations thereof.
 29. An act granting an eight-hour day to the railroad employees of the United States.
 30. Every effort by designing opponents to shackle the labor organizations of this country with compulsory investigation of labor disputes was defeated.
- There are also pending in congress many measures of very great importance to organized labor, among which might be mentioned the Thompson-Decker or Clearance bill, the bill for the increase of salary for Inspectors of Safety Appliances, the increase in membership of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Immigration bill, the Interpleader bill, the amendment to the Employers' Liability law, etc., etc., etc.
- In order that the members of our organizations might be thoroughly informed and conversant with the eight-hour proposition, we have had printed extracts from the Congressional Record, in reference to the bill granting an eight-hour day to the railroad employees of the United States, which sets forth the bill itself, the speech of President Wilson delivered at a joint session of congress on August 29, and covers the entire proceedings in connection with its passage, indicating the record votes of the Senate and House of Representatives thereon. We have also had printed the complete hearings held before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce on proposed bills in this connection. We have had copies of these documents mailed to all divisions of the four brotherhoods for the information and guidance of all concerned, and we believe it to be the duty of every laboring man and friend of labor to familiarize himself with action of President Wilson and the attitude and votes of senators and congressmen on this measure.
- While the discussion of our organization is prohibited in our organizations, surely it is the duty not only of our own members but of all persons who work for a living to support our friends, and, if possible, defeat our enemies at the coming election. Never before in the history of labor has the ruler of any country gone to the length that the president of the United States did in espousing the cause of laboring men and making it his own.
- Since laboring men are not wanting in gratitude or lacking in appreciation, it is urgently requested that the position taken by President Wilson and by both branches of congress be not forgotten, and your National Legislative Representatives are strong in the belief that every man who labors, whether he be union or non-union, has an intense vital interest in maintaining in office, regardless of what their politics may be, men who have shown themselves steadfast friends to the cause of the laboring man, and who have demonstrated their adherence to that which they believed was equitable and just, regardless of what effect it might have upon their special fortunes.
- Yours fraternally,

Whitaker-Glessner Co-operative Restaurant Now Ready To Serve

The establishing of the Whitaker-Glessner Co-operative Association restaurant which opened its doors, Monday morning, is the direct outcome of inspiration.

One day last winter, when the snow laid deep upon the ground, Judge A. Z. Blair, attorney for the Whitaker-Glessner Steel Co., happened to be standing at the "Rudy Kountz Corner" waiting for a street car to carry him to Portsmouth. Looking down the street he saw a woman, with babe in arms, trudging through the snow, carrying a basket, which the Judge learned contained her husband's dinner. He learned from the woman that she lived up Mun's Run and that she had walked more than one-half mile over the snowy ground in order that her husband might have his dinner on time. She had done this many times, saying that her husband worked hard and that she thought it no more than her duty to see that he had a good dinner. The woman was tired and cold, while the little babe shivered and cried.

Right then and there Judge Blair had visions of a restaurant for the steel company—one that was in keeping with the great institution and one that would give the hard muscled employees a square meal at a reasonable price—one where they could get warm, palatable food—served in a big airy room where the employees could fellowship together during the meal hours.

Acting upon the inspiration he received from seeing the good woman carrying her husband's dinner, the Judge retraced his steps and in an eloquent manner laid his quickly conceived restaurant plan before Manager Andrew Glass. That official, who is ever mindful of the interest of the big army of loyal employees, immediately joined in with a loud "amen." The result was that within a short time Judge Blair was commissioned to go ahead and arrange for a restaurant, one that would meet every single requirement.

And the Judge worked hard. He visited many restaurants in the larger cities. He spared neither time nor money in getting the best possible, and an inspection of the restaurant will convince anyone that a better equipped, better arranged one could not be found than the one that opened its doors at the local steel plant Monday morning.

In all more than $20,000 were expended and if more money is still needed to remedy any defects or add any conveniences, all the Judge has to do is to order it done and send the bill to headquarters. The steel company, which does things on a large scale, never hesitates when it can in any way add to the welfare of their 2500 employees.

A Times representative visited the restaurant last Saturday in company with Judge Blair and he had his eyes opened as well as his stomach filled—filled, mark ye, with as palatable food as ever successfully escaped the epiglottis and passed through the pharynx on its journey.

The main eating room of the restaurant is 50x100 and contains 65 tables, which accommodate six persons each, giving the room a capacity of feeding 400 men at one time. It is a self serving affair, and there is no intention on the part of the Whitaker-Glessner Co. of trying to make any money off the patrons. It has been put in purely for the convenience of the employees and needless to add that it will be freely patronized. In the center aisle of the large dining hall are stationed three marble drinking fountains, while the interior contains more than fifty windows. On the ceiling are several large arc lights and when the current is on so brilliant is the interior that it is hard to find a shadow.

The restaurant building is equipped with a large basement, where the men enter. Here are arranged 35 wash stands with running hot and cold water. In the basement will be a little store where one can purchase tobacco, cigars, gloves, candy, peanuts and popcorn. A milk bottling plant is also stationed in this part of the building.

After getting the grim and dirt off their faces and hands, entrance can be gained to the dining room by two flights of stairs. Entering the eating room, a man picks up his knife, fork and spoons, then grabs a tray and passing down in front of a 40 foot steam table helps himself to the many delectables that he sees before him. Each person is supposed to have a coupon book, although cash can be paid. When the tray is filled with food, a pretty girl makes a mental note of how much the meal has cost and with the aid of a cash register gives the man a check. After eating the man walks down the long aisle and the girl at the other end takes the cash or tears from the coupon book the amount necessary to pay for the meal.

Coupon books can be purchased in $1.00, $2.50 and $5.00 books. Any person taking employment with the Whitaker-Glessner Co. can secure a $1.00 coupon book and give an order on his pay. Some men who take jobs at the big plant are "strapped" when applying and the new system will enable him to eat from the very start.

Mrs. Charles Haubert has been placed in absolute charge of the kitchen and dining room. She will have 14 women under her and she is absolute dictator. She anticipates no trouble whatever with her help, having surrounded herself with bright capable women, every one of whom seems to be in hearty accord with her duties. Miss Georgine Cook will be purchasing agent and needless to add the men need have no fear but what there will always be a plentiful supply of good things in store for them.

There is absolutely nothing cheap about the restaurant. Everything is the best that money can buy. The knives, forks and spoons are of the best plated silver, while the dishes are monogrammed with the following words: "Whitaker-Glessner Co-operative Association." It would be useless for anyone outside of an expert in the culinary art to attempt to give a description of the big kitchen. Everything has been put in on a big scale and judging from the motor driven utensils the kitchen is of sufficient capacity to feed all of Portsmouth. A huge potato peeling machine that will peel a half bushel of potatoes in less than 20 seconds is one of the many labor saving devices. Then there is a patented dish washer that will wash and dry more dishes in ten minutes than fifty women can under the old system. Bread cutting machines, meat choppers, etc., are systematically arranged around the four walls.

The soup kettle—well, it's big enough for a thousand men and then there'll be soup left. The big steel range—or rather a battery of ranges, is stationed in the center of the kitchen and is a huge affair, one equal to any emergency. In the selection of the kitchen utensils Judge Blair was given timely assistance by Alan Jordan, proprietor of the Washington hotel and a man who is accustomed to doing big things on a big scale. Mr. Jordan pronounces the restaurant one of the most complete of its kind in the entire world, and that is taking in considerable territory. Meals will be served four times a day, morning, noon, evening and midnight. In order to accommodate many men who cannot leave their employment during the eating hours, large trays, capable of carrying six dinners, have been installed and the men will have their meals brought to them piping hot. Incidentally a short order lunch counter has been installed in the basement and this will accommodate many who desire a lunch previous to going to work, or who may want a bite after their turn is completed.

A governing board consisting of Judge Blair and the heads of every department of the big works, will sit in judgment on any changes or on any complaints. If a person faults anything in connection with the restaurant he will make his complaint to the head of his department and the matter will find adjustment when the board of governors meet.

A scale of prices has not as yet been definitely decided upon, further than no dish will cost more than 10 cents and none less than 1 cent. It is thought, however, that a man, no matter how hungry he may be, can get all he needs for not more than twenty cents. Let this be known, however, that if the viands are of the same class as served the writer on Saturday, some men are liable to spend a day's wages, at the noon hour particularly.

Everything from soup to pie was served and every dish was a generous one. The restaurant will no doubt prove to be all that its promoters hope for. It is clean, sanitary and inviting in appearance and should be one of the busiest places in Scioto county, not only serving men's appetites, but promoting good fellowship as well.

BIG BUSINESS

Business in a retail way in the city Saturday was better than it had been for many weeks, the retail dealers in all branches of the mercantile field reporting a veritable flood of sales. The sudden drop in temperature combined with the fact that it was pay day in several of the larger plants is given as the cause of the almost unprecedented business. Several merchants report the best business since Easter.

Faulkner Pokes Fun At Kearns' "Closing Down" Steel Plant

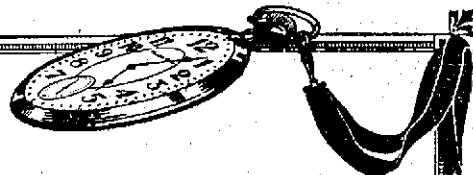

James Faulkner in the Sunday edition of the Cincinnati Enquirer had the following to say of Congressman Charles Kearns, of this district:

"It was always the belief of this journal of forward sight that Hon. Charles C. Kearns, of 'Clearmont', member of Congress in and for the Sixth District, would do something hereafter if the chance ever presented itself. He has. The other night with no weapon save that with which Samson slew the Philistines, Charlie, who is a pretty fair lawyer, closed down the Portsmouth Steel Company's mill and threw 2,500 shuddering workmen into enforced idleness. The way he did it was this:

a close some day and it will find the Democratic party in power in this country. Immediately Mr. Glass, the superintendent of the mill, will draw the fires and fire the help, every man Jack of them. It will then require another European war and the election of a Republican president and congress to reopen it."

Pretty good scare, eh what? Not so bad for a fellow from little Latavia. It's every bit as good as the work turned out by Charles Evans Hughes, even if we do say it ourselves about our distinguished fellow Buckeye. It's a good start, and we are hoping to hear of Charlie destroying the crops, blasting the orchards, bringing on freshets and spreading the foot and mouth disease when he gets out into agricultural territory. Make 'em shiver! Class." make 'em shiver!

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

J. W. Dawson, of Charleston, coal operator and business man, nominated by the Republicans of West Virginia for elector at large, has asked the central committee of the party to remove his name from the ticket, as he has decided to support Wilson for president. Giving his reason therefor Mr. Dawson says he has read the public addresses of Charles Evans Hughes and that in them he can find no good reason why the administration at Washington should be changed. Regardless of the individuality of Hughes a vote for him would be assisting to turn over the destinies of the United States and the destinies of 100,000,000 people to "the Old Guard," dominated and controlled by such men as Barnes, Crane, Penrose and Snoot and I will not be a party to such treachery to our country.

Mr. Dawson's change of political front which is the most surprising and astounding in West Virginia's sensational politics of the recent past, will be set down by his late fellow partisans as the eccentricities of an individual, but the better view in which to regard it is an evidence of the broader and better spirit that is developing in the politics of the country. Partisanship is no longer possessed of such absolute sway over the masses. Personal opinion and individual thought and consequent independence are becoming more general. Not only policies are becoming better understood, but conditions, candidates themselves and possible eventualities are being more clearly studied and a keener understanding of all arrived at. The period of objection, protest and mere fault-finding is happily gone, let us hope never to return. In its place has come the demand for action and the reasons against it, as well as for it. No longer is the partisan that a thing is wrong or a blunder. The people want to know why it is stated so and what is going to take place of it. In the face of this, too, the country is being confronted with vital new problems and the solution of these is looked upon as more serious and immediate than the matter of to whom the offices shall be given. Perhaps, we could have no more striking demonstration of the gravity with which these are viewed and the growing spirit of courage and independence than in the case of the West Virginia citizen herein referred to. Considering his affiliations of the past his association with party activities and the peculiar delicacy of his immediate situation, the certain knowledge that he would be charged with disloyalty and treachery to his party, it may well be imagined the tremendous struggle he must have with himself to determine on his final course.

THEIR UNHAPPY ESTATE

Enthusiasm among local candidates for our good young governor is not rampant since his speech here Friday night, though this is not to say it was bubbling over theretofore. One wouldn't strain the truth greatly to allege there was a boiling over the other way. The cause and the wherefore is a singular neglect or oversight on the part of both the speakers of the evening but more particular the good young governor, whose "strong hold" is spreading the con. Now, if there is anything the lovely county candidates loves it is to be patted on the back and wrapped around the neck, figuratively speaking by the fellow higher up, furnishing him with the blout to swell and parade around the next day before a constituency that listened with bated breath to the distinction conferred upon him. But nothing of the sort occurred at Kendall's hall. There was a deathly silence on the part of the brilliant orators in regard to the county ticket and there was no trumpet call to save the tail with the hide and elect every county candidate. The silence with regard to Herriek was equally funereal. There was a passing reference to the connection of the smooth Senator Trempier in regard to some bills, but outside of that only Hughes and the good young governor occupied the boards of talk, excepting, of course, that Wilson and Cox seemed to be very much on the mind and the tongue as well.

Speaking for the good young governor it may be said in apology for his failure to lend a helping word to the county candidates that he has troubles of his own as a candidate and naturally those of the little fellows don't count so much with him.

Misery loves company. The local G. O. P. candidates can find it by traveling over to Guernsey. In that county they were so puffed that a delegation took the trouble to travel all the way to Columbus to lay complaint before the state committee that though they had got up a nice meeting for the good young governor, hired a brass band and put in the papers an imposing array of vice presidents, regardless of whether they were for Wilson or Candidate Hughes—just as was done here—the aforesaid good young governor never gave a boost to anyone except himself—just as was done here too.

We'll have to admit that when it comes to a musical festival Cincinnati takes no back seat for any one. She puts up the money lavishly and gets the best there is.

Three days of cloud and rain become but a nebulous memory with the dawning of a perfect day like Sunday.

The peerless is getting her share of prosperity. Local merchants tell of increase of trade that would be incredible were it not for the well known fact that they are not given to drawing the long bow when it comes to talking about business.

A DESPERATE CASE

THE FEDERAL CHILD LABOR LAW

(The Machinists' Journal)

The enactment of the Federal Child Labor law by this Congress will free nearly three-quarters of a million children from industrial slavery. It is a long step toward freeing nearly one and one-half million other children who labor, but the product of whose labor does not enter into interstate commerce.

In 1827 a union organization of workers in the city of New York declared that no child under 16 years of age should be permitted to work in gainful industry. That was the first recorded effort to abolish or to avoid child slavery in the United States. The evil was then only a little one comparatively. But in the nearly one hundred years from that first effort to the day President Wilson and Congress emancipated the children, the evil grew until it cast as black a shadow over the republic as the black shadow of negro slavery. The foul immorality of mankind's "feeding upon its young" aside, the estimated three-quarter million children in factories, mines, quarries and sweatshops reduced the standard of living and of wages in nearly every worker's home. The material danger to the republic and to industrial security was that every child worker or potential worker was a competitor for the job of his father and the jobs of other fathers.

Jerome Jones, labor editor and president of the Southern Labor Congress, says:

"There is a strong connection between child labor and low wages. There is no doubt in my mind but that if the mills had to pay as much for child labor as for adult labor there would be no more child labor problem. The child is thus brought into competition with adult labor, and what is the result? Both child and adult get starvation wages!"

Raising the standard of child life means raising the standard of all industrial life. Justice to the children will necessarily mean more justice to the grown wage-earners of the nation.

If it has been true through any cause, the cause of greed, or of panic, or of business incompetence and "shiftlessness" that the children would starve if they did not labor, then the wages of the father must be enough at least to equal the combined wages of the family. The poverty in the vicious circle of poverty and child labor must vanish. The beneficent circle of education must widen.

The fight of nearly one hundred years now brings a great victory, won by the American labor movement, by the National Child Labor Committee, and by President Wilson. The tribute which workers throughout the nation willingly pay to the President is voiced by the commendations and the rejoicings of their spokesmen.

Labor and the nation as a whole have made a splendid advance.

Perfectly astounding all this trouble Democratic free trade is making. The iron and steel mills are so crowded with domestic orders that they absolutely refuse to take orders of consequence for delivery before long into 1917.

It is not finding fault with the actions of others, but the worth of what you do yourself that counts.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O-O-MCINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 23.—The announcement that the elimination of the cloak room tip habit has been started has been followed by the invention of a hat and coat hook that the patron may use to lock his hat and coat and the key is carried as a check. The magnitude of the cloak room tip business is difficult for an outsider to understand.

A few months ago two vaudeville actors, giving a trial performance in Shanley's cabaret show, introduced a bit of "business" which aroused much laughter and applause. The man entered in evening clothes and sat at a table. The girl followed, attired as a check room attendant and forcibly took his hat and coat. Then they sang a song. One couplet ran:

"I only paid twelve-fifty for that coat when it was new;
I've paid enough for checking it to make the price of two."

The act was not continued despite its success in pleasing the patrons. The man who owns the cloak room and hat rack concession at Shanley's objected to it. He said it would hurt his business. He pays $7,500 a year for the privilege of taking care of the hats and wraps at Shanley's and, after paying this concession money and paying the wages of about ten attendants, he realizes a substantial profit.

He does not operate at Shanley's alone. He has similar concessions at a number of places along Broadway. It was he who introduced the "choker" collar worn by nearly all check girls. It prevents them from making way with tips by dropping coins down their necks.

The new patent hook is a big blow to him and that grating noise you hear is the gnashing of his ivory.

"The Modern Dance Magazine" is the latest publication for the exclusive consumption of the dancers. Its leading editorial is headed: "Just for We Dancers." Its boys and girls will all enjoy it.

New York newspapers have finally started to print the daily curb market quotations—which is an indication of the prestige that the curb brokers have gained during the era of their prosperity of the past few months.

Heretofore the curb was not taken seriously by the big newspapers. Now their quotations run side by side with the other stocks. One of the big factors in placing the curb in a more dignified position is James O'Brien, who has been handling the much talked of Calhoun and Jerome copper stocks.

He is one of the charter members of the New York Curb Market Association. I met him the other day and incidentally mentioned the fact that I had come from the Central Park Zoo and had seen a fourteen foot snake try to squeeze James O'Reilly, a keeper, to death.

"Probably wild at being driven out of Ireland," was his cryptic comment.

A building has been rented on lower Fifth Avenue by a woman who will conduct a cigarette shop for female patrons. It will be very hoity-toity and will have several de luxe smoking rooms where female shoppers may rest and dally with the cigarette. The shop is an indication of how the habit of smoking cigarettes has made headway among the gentler sex.

Nearly all of the cafes permit smoking now—whereas only a few years ago it was done very secretly. The story is told of a waiter at Jack's, the all-night restaurant, where women are not allowed to smoke. A gay party entered in the early morning hours.

The men lighted their cigars and the women their cigarettes. In a short time the waiter came over and frowned upon the women. "Say," he said, "where do you ladies think you are—at the Ritz?"

We thought the limit of partisan obsession had been reached when the Democrats began to lay claim to Pennsylvania, but we found we would have to amend that when a fellow actually put up $5 in cash that Hughes would carry Texas.

Not to be hypercritical, but just to mention a fact, it is to be noticed that the indignation that was so rampant over the Germans invading Belgium isn't seething at all over the Allies invading Greece. Which reminds us as we travel down this vale of sorrow and pretence, that the wisest of all lawyers was he who found it made all the difference in the world whose ox had been gored.

Fine S. S. Conventions Held In The County

What was considered by the workers as the two best Sunday school conventions of the season were held on Sunday at Lucasville and Haverhill. Big crowds gathered in the afternoon at both places, and helpful programs were carried out at both conventions.

At Lucasville 3 addresses were made as follows: "The Essentials for a Successful Sunday School" by M. E. F. Kinsey, county secretary; "The Boy and the Sunday School," by Howard Lowry; "The Men's Class" by E. F. Rideout. In addition to these helpful addresses the Columbia Male Quartet of this city furnished the music. Their selections were inspiring and helpful.

The following officers were elected for Valley Township: J. C. McKinley, president; Mrs. C. J. Moulton, vice president; Mrs. E. P. Cook, secretary and treasurer.

At Haverhill quite a novel convention was held. J. H. Finney, teacher of the big Men's Class at Trinity church, instead of giving his usual Sunday school address, taught the regular international lesson, much to the enjoyment of the big crowd who attended the convention. This was done by special request. Lloyd Craden also gave a very helpful address on "Organized Bible Classes" and W. W. Gates presented the State and County Association work. The following officers for Green Township were elected: Paul Selby, president; Bert Burke, vice president; John Criekeburger, secretary; Charles Brush, treasurer.

Two conventions are scheduled for next Sunday at McDermott and Wheelersburg.

"What makes you think your husband is coming back, Maudy? Have you heard from him?" "No, but Ah jes' knows somethin's gwine to happen. Ah broke a mirror dis mornin'!"

Usually The Way

The teacher was trying to make his pupils understand that all good comes from one source. As an illustration, he told them of building a house and putting water pipes with taps in all the rooms, these pipes not being connected with the main in the street. "Suppose I turn on a tap and no water comes, what is the matter?"

He naturally supposed that some of the boys would answer that the water was not turned on at the main; but they didn't. On the contrary, one boy at the foot of the class called out: "You didn't pay your water rent!"

The "Luminator" Got Busted

Two men were in the dining car ordering breakfast. The first one said to the waiter: "George, you may bring me two fried eggs, some broiled Virginia ham, a pot of coffee and some rolls."

"Yassn."

The other said: "You may bring me the same."

"Yassa."

The second man then called the waiter and remarked: "Just eliminate the eggs."

"Yassa."

In a moment the waiter came back.

"Sense me, boss, but jest what did you all say erbout dem aigs?"

"I said just eliminate the eggs."

"Yassa." And he hurried again to the tiny kitchen.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Oct. 23.—New maximums for U. S. Steel, Sugar and Leather issues and Utah Copper accompanied today's dealings which ranked among the largest and broadest of the current movement.

Dealings on a broad scale at higher levels were resumed at the opening of today's market. Specialties leading the movement. Higher prices were established by American Beet and Cuban sugar and Central Leather also secured a new maximum. U. S. Steel's dearest opening showed a gain of a point with as much or more for American Car, Pressed Steel Car, Westinghouse, International Paper and Inspiration Copper. Other metal issues were in general demand and the inquiry for rails was again featured by unusual activity in Wabash steels, Denver and Rio Grande preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio and Rock Island. Trading assumed much wider proportions before 11 o'clock. Embracing issues of every description, incessant profit exercised little or no effect, prices attaining higher levels. Activity in Bethlehem Steel which rose 3 points to 580 was a conspicuous feature. Central Leather and sugars extended their gains with nitrates, Petroleum and Fertilizers. U. S. Steel became the central figure in the new record of 12 1/2 with gains of 1 to 4 points in related stocks. Rails were relatively backward but firm. Dealings up to the noon hour when almost buoyant conditions prevailed approximated 750,000 shares. Bonds were firm.

Speculative issues yielded 1 to 2 points in the later operations, but made little recovery, as the greater strength of high grade rails. The closing was strong.

WAR

At Predal Pass on the Transylvania front, the statement adds, 500 Rumanians have been captured.

Constanza was one of the principal objectives of Field Marshal Von Mackensen in his campaign in Dobruja. It is of particular importance by reason of the fact that it is the eastern terminus of the only railroad between the Black Sea and the Danube which it crosses at Tchernovod. Thence the railroad runs westward into Old Rumania.

Von Mackensen's new campaign in Dobruja was begun only last week, on October 19, when an offensive along the entire line from the Black Sea to the Danube was opened.

Constanza has been notably useful in offering a seaport and railway entrance for Russian troops and ammunition sent to the aid of Rumania. Its capture cuts off the most convenient water route for Rumanian replenishment, especially of munitions of which the Rumanians have been reported in need.

The position of the entire line would give the Teutonic allies the easiest road to interior Rumania from the southeast over the Tchernovod bridge.

Constanza is Rumania's greatest maritime port and its harbor works have been extensively developed. The city was partially rebuilt when Dobruja was ceded to Rumania in 1872. It has been the base of the Rumanian Black Sea squadron. The city before the war had a population of about 13,000.

Rumanians Driven Back

Sofia, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—The Rumanians have been driven back to within six miles of Constanza on the Dobruja front, according to an official statement issued by the war office. Eight guns, twenty machine guns and much war material have fallen into the hands of the Bulgarians.

Admit Retreat

Petrograd, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—The Russian and Rumanian troops in Dobruja are continuing to retreat, the war office announced today. They are offering stubborn resistance to Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army.

On the Transylvania front the Rumanians made attacks yesterday compelling the Austro-German forces to retire slightly in the Trotus, Otus and Slanic valleys. On the western frontier of Moldavia the Rumanians are fighting stubbornly and with success.

French Claim More Ground

Paris, Oct. 23.—French troops in the Somme region have fought their way forward in the neighborhood of Sailly-Saillisset capturing the entire spur No. 128 northwest of the village, the war office announced today.

Austro-Germans Make New Thrust
Petrograd, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—Austro-German forces made a new attack yesterday striking north of Brody, near the Volhynia-Galician border. The war office reports that the assault was repulsed.

Cerna Fighting Favors Allies
Paris, Oct. 23.—Desperate fighting in the bend of the Cerna on the Macedonian front has resulted favorably to the entente forces according to today's war office announcement. The Bulgarian's counter-attacks in strong force but were defeated by the Serbians who inflicted heavy losses on the attacking troops.

21 VILLAGES

from German prisoners, the German losses were not less than 25 and possibly fifty per cent higher than the British during the month of September, when the British gained most ground.

This contradiction of the previously accepted idea of a higher ratio of casualties on the side of the offensive, which is usually considered as necessarily at not less than two to one, is due, according to the British officers, to the superior power of the British shell fire, the numbers of British aeroplanes, the increased skill of the British soldiers and the use of the "tanks". The British staff did not place much confidence in these contrivances, which aroused such world-wide interest, but regarded them as an experiment which might fail altogether. They are only one of the inventions aiding the offensive against modern fortifications which will be used next spring when the British are fully prepared.

Calculations as to the value of the tanks are hard to make out, but taking the averaging opinion of experts at the front, these weird new motor cars have saved a loss of 20,000 men, or more than a full division, in the reduction of strong points and machine gun positions.

Not on ground gained or prisoners or guns taken does opinion at the front lay most emphasis after nearly four months ceaseless fighting, every day bringing its lesson. Officers are always using the word morale, which means the spirit and team play an army puts into its work. It is the thing which at the end of the tenth round of a twenty round fight when both pugilists are still standing up well to each other, indicates the winner. The British, after nearly two years of stalling, have been fighting week after week on soil taken from their foes. Thus the British morale has become the morale of attack.

This offensive has been the school of war with death as tutor. As one staff officer said, "If we had July 1 to do over again, we should accomplish the same results with less loss."

By fighting, the British new army learned to fight as Grant's army learned to fight at Shiloh and McClellan's on the Peninsula.

Before the grand offensive the British staff and commanders, those few professionals who were trained to direct the regular army, realized fully their immense responsibility in sending an army trained in theory against the experienced German organization. At that time one commander recalled to the correspondent a saying of Von Moltke that although the German as a soldier might not be better than his enemy, the German army would always win because of a superior staff system. "We have met the German staff," said the same man recently, "and I assure you none of us are suffering from stage fright these days. We thank the German staff for what they taught us in days of our inexperience and of late they have been bearing a few things from us."

Actual battle conditions have revealed as no theoretical tests could, which officers are fit to lead. The road to promotion has become success in the thirties and forties now direct the fighting in the field and battalion commanders who are not yet thirty have ceased to be uncommon. To the correspondent the improvement in the army week by week has been one of the most interesting and evident features of his long stay at the front.

Uncle Sam Will Not Enter War, Says Wilson

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 23.—In a speech devoted primarily to a discussion of the need of economic preparedness in the United States, President Wilson told a delegation of farmers, architects and engineers here Saturday that he did not expect the United States to get into war. "I know that the way we have preserved peace is objected to," said the President, "and that certain gentlemen say they would have taken some other way that would inevitably have resulted in war, but I am not expecting this issue to get into war, partly because I am not expecting these gentlemen to have a chance to make a mess of it."

Taking the work done by the administration for the farmers as his text, Mr. Wilson declared:

"We want the privilege of reprimanding the whole force of the nation."

He demanded that men be put through a "third degree" in respect to where they stand with regard to love of the United States, and said he was glad the campaign was nearly over, "because I am in a hurry to get down to business again."

"There is a great deal of irresponsible talk being indulged in," declared the President in discussing the campaign. "Men are saying things they know perfectly well they cannot make good on, and it disturbs the national council. On the 7th of November we will call time."

Mr. Wilson said the Democratic party had been trying to take the government out of the control of small groups and "square it with the counsel of the whole nation."

W. Vulgamore, Pike county, who is making Portsmouth his home, returned to the city Monday from Waverly, where he was arraigned before Probate Judge George Barch on a charge of lunacy, preferred by L. Mr. Vulgamore was arrested here last Wednesday and was given a hearing Friday. He is working on the flood wall extension job.

YOUNG MEN QUARREL OVER GIRLS; ONE IS KILLED

Pike County Scene Of A Fatal Shooting Affray Sunday Night

On the way home from attending services at the Fairmount church, near Latham, Pike county, Sunday evening at 9 o'clock, Ben Jackson, 23, farmer, and Floyd Stutz, 23, farmer, both of that vicinity, became involved in a quarrel over two girls, giving their names as Gragg, which resulted in a fatal shooting. Stutz was shot in the stomach with a 32-caliber by Jackson and died almost instantly.

Information furnished to the authorities Monday morning was that the quarrel took place in the yard of the Gragg home, four miles north-west of Latham. Jackson, it is said, shot Stutz, and when the young man fell to the ground, he walked away, later he returned and finding the young man dead, he picked up the body and dragged it several yards down the road, where it was later found.

Jackson made no attempt to escape. He was found near the scene of the shooting by the constable from Latham, who placed him under arrest. The prisoner was held until Sheriff B. F. Entler and Marshal C. W. Miller, of Waverly, arrived. Sheriff Entler took Frank Carter, a young man who was with Stutz when the shooting occurred, into custody as a witness. Both were taken to the county jail and lodged behind the bars.

In his statement to the authorities, Jackson said that he had accompanied the Gragg girls to the church services, at the conclusion of which he started home with them. Stutz and Carter, he said, followed them home, quarrelling most of the way. At the Gragg home the quarrel terminated in the shooting. Carter, it is said, testified that Stutz was shot while sitting in a buggy and fell out into the road.

On returning from the scene of the crime, the Pike county authorities say that from reliable information, it was learned that the shooting occurred in the yard of the Gragg home. Sheriff Entler and Prosecuting Attorney Levi D. Moore, Waverly, went to the Gragg home Monday to collect evidence and investigate the shooting. The body of the unfortunate man was taken to the mortuary of J. T. Smith, Latham, and prepared for burial.

ORGANIZED LABOR ISSUES APPEAL FOR THE RE-ELECTION OF WILSON

Washington, Oct. 23—Organized labor's first official appeal to its membership in behalf of President Wilson's re-election was made public Saturday at the American Federation of Labor headquarters. It is in the form of a circular letter to all officers of organized labor, calling on them to hold special meetings if necessary to consider the issues of the campaign, and see to it that wage earners go to the polls to protect their interests against Wall street.

The letter is signed by Samuel Gompers, president; James O'Connell, vice-president, and Frank Morrison, secretary, as the Federation's Labor Representation Committee, and it has been sent to the heads of all affiliated organizations. In reviewing the record of the administration, it praises the president's course in foreign affairs, declaring that without war he has secured all the protection and benefits that would have accrued from a successful war, and asserts that at home the labor movement has been able to secure recognition for the rights of human beings and opportunity for all to participate in the affairs of the nation in a degree that never before has been accomplished.

Following is the letter in part: "Greeting: Never at any time within the last 50 years have the workers had more at stake in any political campaign than in the one that is to be decided in the election November 7.

"During the present administration, and particularly in this campaign, there has been developed a clear-cut issue between the workers—the producers—and those who manipulate the products of the labor of others—the exploiters. The issue is represented in the campaign by the conflicting interests represented by labor and Wall street.

"During the present administration the organized labor movement has been able to secure recognition for the rights of human beings and opportunity for all to participate in the affairs of the nation in a degree that never before has been accomplished.

of the European war is also true in the case of relations between our country and Mexico.

"The interests that have been seeking to plunge our country into war, not only with European countries, but also with Mexico, are the interests that are represented by the most selfish and most conscienceless element of Wall street. *****

"So far as the internal affairs of our country are concerned, the organized labor movement, as the authorized representative of the wage earners, has demanded from them the right of participation in all the affairs of the nation and has secured recognition of that demand to a degree never before realized. *****

"During the last four years there has been enacted by Congress, and signed by President Wilson, humanitarian protective legislation unprecedented in amount and scope. Legislative enactment has secured to wage earners fundamental rights necessary for the very existence of the organizations of labor, without which wage earners would have nothing of freedom and no real opportunity for self-determination.

After mentioning the eight-hour day act, the seamen's law and the child-labor law, the letter adds:

"It is impossible to give the full list of remedial and protective legislation that carries its beneficent influence into the homes of millions of America's workers. We can only refer to that change in the spirit of the nation that is of more consequence than any statutory enactment, with broader appreciation of the rights of humanity and the value of the human relationships necessary in the co-ordination which is the basis for industry and commerce. **

Important Issues Seen

"On November 7, election day, a decision will be made which will determine the future development of our country and the spirit of our national life for years to come.

"As representatives of the organized labor movement, which is the militant protective organization of all the workers, and which stands primarily for human rights, we urge that the issues be considered at a regular or special meeting held by your organization.

"The meeting should be a general one, and, if necessary, called specially for the purpose of seeing that those who have so much at stake tain the special privileges and power that they have secretly and corruptly stolen from the people.

"While property must be protected and respected, man—men, women and children, human beings—must have the first consideration.

"Wage earners cannot afford to lose their rights and opportunities through negligence and inaction.

"Meet, discuss the great issues to be decided on election day, November 7, then go to the polls and cast your vote as your conscience directs, for labor, justice, freedom and humanity."

"The Model Mother, Queen Of Earth"

Another large congregation greeted Rev. C. Lloyd Strecker, pastor of Trinity church Sunday evening when he delivered the second of a series of sermons, his subject being "The Model Mother, Queen of the World." A special woman's chorus rendered "My Mother's Bible" as the closing number of the service.

Next Sunday evening the subject will be "The Model Son, Young America." A special boys' chorus will sing.

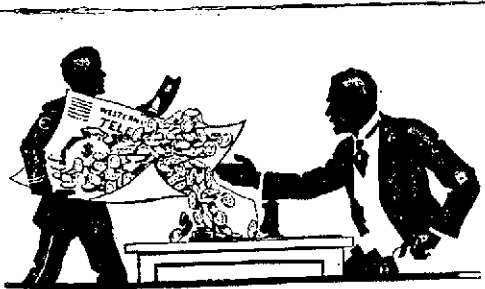

Last evening Rev. Strecker said in part: "If it is necessary for a father to be a Godly man it is doubly necessary for the mother to be a Godly woman, for upon the mother rests the care of children during their early and most impressionable years. The acts impressed upon the child at the early age are as lasting as life itself." Rev. Strecker then touched upon the supreme importance of the mother, and the wonderful opportunity of motherhood. "Motherhood is the most exalted position in all the world. The mother can not do anything more worth while than caring for and training her children."

Rev. Strecker gave a brief exposition of the 31st chapter of Proverbs which contains a beautiful description of ideal woman. He recommended the chapter to women and mothers for daily study and as their ideal.

He spoke of "the fierce light that beats upon the modern home."

"Social science has discovered that nearly all of our modern ills flow from a defective home," he said. Rev. Strecker then spoke of women knowing how to keep house. "A mother makes a great mistake in standing between her daughter and the work of the home," he said.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

Dear Dolly Wise.—Can you tell me why it is that widow women have such a poor chance to marry the second time and get a good home. I know of a dozen or more widows, ranging in ages from 25 to 60, who would make ideal wives. These widows work hard to earn their support, when they could keep a nice home for some of the lonely widowers if they would get busy and look for them. If you should have a request for some of these widows' names, mention it in your column and I will call you up.

A READER.
I think widows have as good, or even a better chance to marry again than single girls. However, if any of the eligible bachelors and widowers in the city or vicinity ask for the names of the charming widows you have on your list, I will surely let you know about them.

Dear Dolly.—I am now coming to you for advice and would like for you to answer me. I used to go with a young man whom I loved very dearly, and I think he loved me. He told some friends he loved me. About two months ago we quit going together and he began going with another girl. I would like to win him back. How do you think I could win him and do you think he loves me?

BLUE EYES.
If he quit going with you without any reason and started going with the other girl, he evidently likes her better than he does you. There is nothing you can do to win him back, if he has lost interest in you. Would suggest that you go out with other boys and girls and act as though you did not care who he went with. Independence will win him back quicker than anything else you can do.

Dear Miss Wise.—I want to get employment but do not know what would be best for me to do. About what is the average wage paid clerks in department stores?

and what in the office of factor? Can a girl secure office work without having taken a business course? I am a high school graduate, but have had no regular business training. Or can you suggest any other work I might do? Of course I want to make as much as I can.

STRANGER.
There is no average wage paid clerks and stenographers. Each one is paid what she is worth to the firm. Some advance rapidly, while others never get beyond where they started from. If you are quick and accurate with figures you might be able to get a position in a factory office as time keeper or assistant bookkeeper. Since you are a high school graduate why not take up teaching?

Dear Dolly.—Will you please state through your paper, who is the author of the following statement, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead."

J. W. W.
It was a saying of Dave Crockett, one of the old scouts on the western frontier, in the early years of this country.

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killbuck, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband. I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around my house. I was always downhearted and discouraged with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. E. L. KLENNETT, Box 35, Killbuck, Conn.

A marriage license was granted by Judge Beatty Oct. 12 to one of Green township's most prominent couples, Mr. J. C. Willis, of Franklin Furnace, and Miss Bertha Disterdick, of Hanging Rock, aged 25 and 21, respectively.

Mr. Willis taught school in Green township two years. He then graduated from the Portsmouth College of Business and is now one of Green township's most distinguished young men. At present he conducts a dairy and fruit farm with his father.

Miss Disterdick is now with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Disterdick, of Powellsville. After she completed a high school course, has given her life's work to domesticity, which seems to be her "hobby."

After receiving the license, they motored from Portsmouth to Powellsville to the bride's home, where they were joined in matrimony by Rev. Green Willis. Supper was served following the marriage.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Disterdick, Hanging Rock, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Willis, Franklin Furnace; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hudson, Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brokaw, Portsmouth.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hudson, Wheelersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Edson Tenor, Portsmouth, and many others, thirty-one in all.

The musical part of the program was started with the selections of the groom, "The Fight is On," which seemed to create much interest, the groom's voice carrying higher than the others on the particular song. Both the bride and groom were very entertaining and showed all a good time.

At this point the bells began to ring, guns to shoot, auto-cycles to ring, hammers to beat, and a free for all noise was carried on for an hour and a quarter. Then fifty persons joyously marched up and played homage to the happy couple. Many presents were given the bride and groom. It was conceded by those who were there that this was the most beautiful wedding they had ever seen, and one that can long be remembered by Green township's citizens.

Friends of John Arthur Edwards, formerly of this city, will be interested to learn of his marriage to Miss Ada Murray, of Middletown, O., which took place on Oct. 14, on the spacious lawn at the home of the bride's mother, just a few miles east of the city, while the impressive words of the ring service were spoken by the Rev. D. F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church—the sweet, pleading soprano voice of Miss Jeanette Shaner was heard in the bridal song, "O, Promise Me," emanating from the parlor, together with the musical measured strokes of the clock chimed, noting the hour of high noon, gave added impressiveness to the ceremony. The pretty bride wore as a wedding gown oriental net over white silk, carrying an arm bouquet of bride roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Mariel Randolph, a close, confiding friend of the bride, and Mr. James Henry, a brother-in-law of the groom, were the attendants. After congratulations a bounteous dinner was served to the fifty guests in the dining-room, where the table was beautiful with yellow decorations, ribbons of yellow extending from the center-piece to the cards marking the places. In the center of the bride's table was a bouquet of sunburst roses and feathery green fringing a large cut-glass rose bowl. Rose bowls filled with yellow dahlias adorned the center of other tables.

Mr. Edwards holds a lucrative position in the office of the American Rolling Mill Company, and the bride was one of the efficient stenographers in the same office. After a ten days' wedding trip the bride and groom will go to house-keeping at Number 1109 South Main street, Middletown, Ohio, and they will be at home to their friends after November the fifteenth.

What to Do for Itching Skins

GET THIS DIET BOOK

Food is as important to the sick person as medicine, more so in most cases. A badly chosen diet may retard recovery.

In health the natural appetite is the best guide to follow, in sickness the appetite is often ickie and depraved. Proper food and a good tonic will keep most people in good health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the most popular tonic medicine in the world, harmless, non-alcoholic and certain in their action which is to build up the blood and to restore vitality to the run-down system. HENRY B. WALTHALL AND MARY ALDEN IN "PILLARS OF SOCIETY," LATEST TRIANGLE PLAY.

Presented With Two-Part Keystone Comedy, Columbia Tonight.

Miss Mary Alden, who has been a member of the Fine Arts forces since long before the famous group of players carried that name, has an important part in the Triangle production of "Pillars of Society." Playing opposite Henry Walthall, she embodies Isben's idea of the woman of force and character who are the real "pillars of society."

Henry Walthall whose presence on the Triangle program came as an interesting surprise when the recent announcement was made that he was to be starred in Isben's "Pillars of Society," is said to make the most important characterization of his career in this extraordinary play. He is often called the most intellectual actor on the screen and it is certain he is peculiarly fitted to interpret the complexities of character that Isben, going straight to life for his material, was dramatic master of, drew with such consummate skill.

The vampire in Isben's "Pillars of Society" gives a remarkable chance to Miss Olga Grey. Miss Grey is a statuesque brunette of Hungarian birth, already well known to Triangle audiences but she has never had a part that fitted her so well in appearance or that gave her such an opportunity to show unexpected gifts in the depiction of the adventures type. This accomplished player has not yet passed her twentieth birthday, but she has few rivals if this Isben characterization is a criterion. In the phrase of the day, she is "some siren."

EDITH STOREY & ANTONIO MORENO in "The Tarantula."

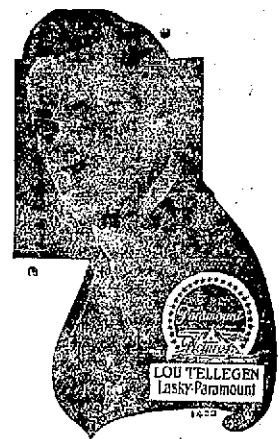

"The Tarantula," Vitaphone Super-feature in Six Parts at the Lyric Monday.

The first of the "Greater Vitaphone" features to come to town will be the opening attraction at the Lyric Monday. "The Tarantula" is a red blooded tragic Spanish romance elaborately produced and featuring Edith scenes of excitement, of beauty, of daring and of humor.

Miss Helen Rowe, Pearl Rhoden and Georgia Jacobs, supported by a company of fifty local people, are featured.

The Children's Parade, the Automobile Parade, the beautiful Korn Dance as interpreted by the members of the Y. W. C. A. and a daring leap to death from the top of the First National Bank building, are some of the many scenes that will interest everyone.

Lou Tellegen and Cleo Ridgely in "The Victory of Conscience," at the Lyric Tuesday

"The Victory of Conscience," is the title of the thrilling drama in which Lou Tellegen, the distinguished dramatic star, will make his appearance for the Jesse L. Lasky-Paramount Co., at the Lyric tomorrow. He is supported by Cleo Ridgely and an all star Lasky cast, including Elliott Dexter, Thomas Delmar and Laura Woods Cushing.

The Lasky Company considers "The Victory of Conscience" one of the most unusual photo dramas that it has ever presented to the public. It tells a tensely dramatic story in a most realistic way.

Local Movie At The Lyric Wednesday

"The Korn Carnival Honeymoon," the big two reel feature which was taken during the Korn Carnival, will be shown Wednesday at the Lyric theatre. The picture is replete with

CLEO RIDGELY Lasky-Paramount

Many scenes are laid in the prominent cafes of Paris, and Cleo Ridgely in the role of a famous dancer, introduces several striking dances, one of them being the famous dance of the seven veils.

Critics everywhere have generously praised this Lasky triumph. It is a production far above the ordinary feature and to miss it will mean to miss one of the greatest pictures of the motion picture age.

At The Exhibit
"The Island of Regeneration," six reel Vitaphone Blue Ribbon feature drama is today's offering for only 10 cents.

A beautiful girl—running away from the unwelcome attentions of the owner of the yacht on which she was a guest—cast upon a tropical island in the Southern Pacific; the sole inhabitant, a man who had lived alone there since early childhood; his only remembrance of language the "Now I lay me" taught him twenty years before by his mother. Imagine what a story could be built upon idea like this. And by such a master-hand as Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady.

Imagine the fire at sea, the earthquake, the attempted rescue, the charming love scenes on the tropical island, the girl bathing in the sequestered pond, the arrival of the United States cruiser, the return to civilization.

Great Drama At The Arcana Tonight

This will be followed by a Victor comedy, "A Lucky Leap," a side splitting show and one that has a laugh at every bend of the road. The big program will close with a great fun play entitled "The Ellixir of Life." Only five cents to see this great play.

Five Big Reels At Temple Theatre Tonight

Manager Harold Potts has booked a cracker-jack program for the Temple theatre tonight. In the first place the show is one of the best ever brought to this city. The headliner will be a three reel Setig drama entitled "Temperance Town," a strong feature play and one that is intensely interesting. This will be followed by two rip-roaring comedies, "Setting the Fashion" and "Nooz Pictorial No. 11," the latter an Essanay production and one that is in keeping with the high character of all Essanay plays. The admission tonight, despite the high class of the productions, will be only five cents, which will mean the Temple will be packed to the guard rails all evening.

At The Strand

The moving picture public of the East End is offered one of the best pictures obtainable tonight at the Strand, Manager Welch having booked "Fatherhood," a five part Broadway Universal drama featuring Hobart Bosworth, Universal star. "A Thousand a Week" is the title of No. 2 of the comedy series, "Timothy Dolks, That's Me." Two reels of screaming comedy. All for 10 cents.

SAYS OVEREATING BANKRUPTS MANY

Physical Insolvency Awaits For Those Who Abuse Stomachs.

MEALS SHOULD PAY DIVIDENDS

Tanlac Health Expert Chats In Novel Way of Bodily Problems and Describes New Treatment Which Has Proved Tremendous Success Everywhere Introduced—"Tired Feeling" No Joke.

"Are your meals paying you dividends?" "Or are they plunging you into physical bankruptcy?" These were novel questions the Tanlac health expert recently asked. He continued:

"Every meal you eat should give you more than mere satisfaction of your hunger. It should add to your supply of blood, bone and muscle. It should give you more strength, more vigor, more vitality to carry you pleasantly and profitably through life."

"Tired Feeling" No Joke.

"You will notice that some people never get plump. No matter how much or how little they eat, they remain skinny and thin. They are weak, nervous, easily exhausted, and afflicted with 'that tired feeling' which is no joke, but a symptom of dangerous illness on the way. Such people are seldom happy. They are always weary, and often nervous and irritable."

"They don't sleep well. Their stomach is a source of constant distress and discomfort. Belching and bloating from gas, headaches, dizziness, indigestion, dyspepsia, pains in the back, and other ailments keep them almost constantly miserable."

Tanlac Great Success.

"Tanlac, the new tonic which has been having such wonderful success everywhere it has been introduced, is designed to relieve disorders which have their origin in a run down condition of the digestive and assimilative organs. Its success as a reconstructive tonic, appetizer, invigorant and restfulizer depends in large part upon its having aided digestion and promoted assimilation, so that food taken into the system becomes a benefit. When the stomach and other digestive organs are in good condition, the foundation of health has been laid."

Sold in Portsmouth, Ohio, by Fisher and Streich Pharmacy.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: New Boston, E. H. Coburn; Sciotoville, Sciotoville Pharmacy; Bloomington, H. J. HAYNES CLAIMS GOVERNOR DID NOT STATE THE FACTS

In a short address, delivered before a gathering of employees of the Selby Shoe company, Secretary of the state highway department, Hon. W. P. Haynes, declared that Governor Frank B. Willis, in an address at a Republican rally Friday evening, willfully and knowingly misstated facts concerning his and his predecessor's administrations. He said that Governor Willis had characterized portions of his (Haynes') speech as "campaign lies." This, the speaker said, could only safely be done by "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Taking a copy of The Times, which contains an account of the Republican rally, the speaker first pointed out that the governor had said that "we had passed the embargo bill." This bill was signed by Ex-Governor James C. Cox, he said.

Relative to the taking of credit for the passage of the Loan Shark bill, Mr. Haynes said that the bill was passed all right during the present administration but "it was introduced by Senator Lloyd, a Democrat from Franklin county, who had to fight against all of the opposition that the governor could bring to bear."

The speaker attacked the statement made by Governor Willis in which he said that Joseph McGhee, Democratic candidate for attorney general, was endeavoring to get a judicial interpretation of the Workmen's Compensation Act. Joseph McGhee, he said, was not connected with the suit that was brought by Former Attorney General Timothy Hogan.

Salaries under the present administration were reduced $350,000. This amount was taken from the clerk that received from $750 to $1500 per year, the speaker claimed and then additional partly workers were added, increasing the amount by $575,000. "Why?" asked Mr. Haynes, didn't the governor of this great state tell you the whole truth instead of attempting to pull the wool over your eyes?"

"If you are going, Mr. Willis, to cut salaries," said Haynes, "why is Judge Taggard, head of the state insurance department announced as receiving $4,500 a year when you are paying him $6,000? Why are you hiding this?"

The speaker read a list of workers, whose salaries he said were reduced under the James M. Cox administration. Among those mentioned were: The Board of Public Work, reduced from three to one member; Board of Agriculture, reduced from 26 members to 4 members.

"Governor Frank Willis tells you that he has saved you $5,000 a month in the state highway department," the speaker said, as he read a portion of the governor's speech. "He did. But he saddled enough work off on the counties in this same department to make the counties pay $75,000 per year; or the same work was accomplished at a cost of $15,000 a year additional."

The Anti-Dumping Act, he said, would keep foreign products from flooding the county after the war.

He concluded by saying that some of the main backers of the present state administration were interested in liability insurance companies.

MOTHER AND SON INJURED WHEN STOVE BLOWS UP

The lives of two persons, Mrs. William McClees and her six year old son, George, were imperiled Sunday morning in a gas explosion, which occurred in their home, 539 Front street.

When Mrs. McClees put a match to the burner in the oven of her stove an explosion followed and she and her son, who was standing alongside of her were blown half way across the room. A tongue of flame reached the face of her son and he was badly burned about the head, face and arms. The child's condition is serious as it is thought he inhaled the flames. The force of the explosion was sufficient to wrest the door from the hinges and striking Geo. McClees it hurled him to one corner of the room. Mrs. McClees was burned, but not seriously.

The family had just moved into a house at 539 Front street and Mrs. McClees started to get breakfast on the stove when it exploded. It is thought the explosion resulted from a leaky burner. Geo. McClees is recovering from an attack of scarlet fever.

Bride Of A Month Is Seeking Divorce, Serious Charge Made

A bride of a month and now seeking a divorce from her husband, John W. Bowling, is the experience of Lucille Bowling, who entered the court of common pleas Monday and asked for a divorce, a temporary injunction restraining her husband from bothering her, and the restoration of her maiden name, Lucille Heddlson.

Although married September 7, this year, the petitioner says that beginning with the first of October, her husband began to be extremely cruel and threatened to kill her.

On October 18, the defendant is alleged to have threatened to disfigure her with acids and that the plaintiff was compelled to leave.

This same day the defendant was arrested, the petition says, by the police, and bottles of carbolic and nitric acids were found.

Bannon and Bannon and Will J. Meyer represent the plaintiff.

Work is to begin this week on the new building. Architects De Voss and Donaldson drew the plans.

The family moved to this city, according to the authorities, only a few days ago from Turkey Foot, near Twin Creek.

John Henneke was perhaps the oldest person to enjoy the German festivities Sunday. Mr. Henneke, who is 85 years of age, not only attended the open-air meeting, but also the social session at Harzger Hall, remaining up to the last minute. He is unusually active for one of his advanced years.

Engineers Hear Plea For National Assoc'n

A change in halls is blamed for the small number who turned out Saturday evening to the meeting of stationary engineers in Odd Fellows' Hall. A great many did not know where the hall was located and did not take the trouble to find it. Several present, including the speakers of the evening, F. P. Brownstead, Special Deputy, and H. Burnell, of New London, who accompanied him, had trouble in locating the hall.

Ten engineers were present at 8:30 when the meeting was to begin. Mr. Brownstead's late arrival, causing a late start.

The meeting was held under the order of the National Association of Stationary Engineers. National President John Kerly, and Dan Delaney, traveling representative of the National Association, of Cincinnati, failed to arrive.

Edward S. Lowry, president of the Ohio Local No. 77, National Association of Engineers, called the meeting to order. The object of the meeting was to boost the membership of the local and national association. The National Association of Engineers has no connection with the International Union of E. E. Mr. Brownstead in his talk urged the local engineers to affiliate with the National Association. He spoke of the benefits offered by the National Association and gave many reasons why every stationary engineer should become a member.

He told of how the National Association had been instrumental in getting placed on the statute books of the states license laws protecting the engineers in many ways. He told of how they had got behind the different measures and worked till they were made a law. No applications were received, but several present signified their intention of joining.

CATARH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarh is as much a blood disease as scurvy or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It breaks down the general health, weakens the lung tissues, and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is so successful in the treatment of catarrh that it is known as the best remedy for this disease. It purifies the blood. Ask your druggist for it.

John Sudentfeld came dangerously near being run over by an automobile on Ninth street, near Gay, Sunday afternoon. He and several friends had just left the German district meeting in Tracy Park and started towards Harzger hall. John stepping from a car failed to observe an auto coming west and but for Charles Stamm quickly jerking him back would surely have been struck and killed.

MILLER'S ANTISEPTIC OIL KNOWN Snake Oil

has perhaps relieved more sufferers than any other known remedy. More than one hundred thousand bottles sold in the past four months under an absolute guarantee to give satisfaction or money refunded, and only three bottles have been returned. Many have testified that they had suffered with rheumatism and lumbago until they had been forced to give up their work because they could not use their limbs. Some who could not even raise their arms above their heads have been restored to normal life. It is so popular that it is sold in every drug store, and is so much trusted today by thousands throughout the South. For rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and aching joints or any kind of an ache or pain, it is sure to be without an equal. Wilson's Policy Is Attacked In Speech To Local German Americans

Fair skies, sprightly music and the inspiration given by the speakers selected, all combined to cause unbounded enthusiasm among the German-Americans of Portsmouth and make successful the celebration held Sunday commemorating the landing of the first German immigrants in America centuries ago.

The exercises were held at Tracy park and quite a crowd participated. The park band stand in which were gathered the officers, speakers and guests of the occasion was decorated with American flags. Herr John Wahrheit was chairman of the meeting. The River City band, enlivened the meeting with a medley of German Fatherland selections by Andauer, including Krentzer's "Das Is Der Tag Des Herren," played as a double brass quartet.

Mayor H. H. Kaps delivered the following address of welcome: "Mr. Chairman, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen: "As the mayor of Portsmouth it is indeed a great pleasure and an honor to extend on behalf of our citizens a sincere and hearty welcome to you.

"As I look over this large and representative gathering I see the faces of many whom I personally know not only as honored citizens of our fair city but as good and true friends of a lifetime.

"I too am proud that my father and my grandfather before me were not only Germans but good soldiers as well, one having the honor to be a soldier of the Fatherland and the other a veteran of our own United States army.

"I will not attempt to take up your time on this occasion by making any extended remarks, believing that you are more anxious to hear from the learned and intelligent gentlemen whom you have invited to be present here today.

"I again extend to you the hospitality of our city. May the stay of your guests while here be the most pleasant and that they carry back to their homes the most pleasant memories of their visit in Portsmouth. I thank you."

Eintracht Society Renders Selection

After the mayor's address the Chillicothe Eintracht Singing Society, twenty strong, sang a German selection which was warmly applauded. General regrets were expressed that the society had arranged to return home on an afternoon N. & W. train.

Former State Senator R. C. Archibald, of Chillicothe, was introduced as the first speaker. His talk dwelt largely upon an explanation of what the German-American Alliance really is. He said in part as follows: "As an American citizen I am proud of my German ancestry. The objects of this Alliance are greatly misunderstood and purposely misrepresented. It is not to build up and keep an empire within an empire, nor for the purpose of encouraging anyone to say a word disloyal or treasonable to the government but to further the best interests of this great land. We have but to remember and recall to your minds the great things our German immigrants have done for this, their adopted country. Talk as you please, our forefathers calculated in us the great love we feel for this, our country. The first book published in the United States was in the German language and it was a Bible. I might enumerate all sorts of things in support of the claims I have made. Who dare criticize us? If we at times are forced to take a stand against some of our countrymen I say it openly and above board that the German-American Alliance is no political organization and cannot be used in favor of any party but it can and will be used against men who maliciously and willfully attack us. We have our guaranteed rights and therefore can protest against any action directed against us. Talk about humanity and then ship loads of munitions going across the ocean. We don't attempt to coerce anyone but reserve unto ourselves the right to object to things that are against us and would not have any cause for existence if we did not have the manhood to stand up and proclaim our true sentiments. We will be joined by hundreds and millions who feel as we do. (Applause). We are the true Americans who insist on absolute, positive and true neutrality."

Hon. John Schwaab Principal Speaker

Hon. John Schwaab, president of the Ohio Alliance and former police judge of Cincinnati, was the principal speaker of the day. A typical German and of commanding appearance he won his hearers from the very outset. He spoke both English and German. He began by apologizing to his hearers for keeping on his headgear, referring with some pleasantry after first doffing his hat, to his baldness. Said he in substance: "Four times in succession the German-American Alliance endorsed for a principle and not from a party standpoint four Democratic state candidates. We were then the best sons on earth. Now this is the first time in history that we have endorsed two Republican candidates and what we are called today I would not dare repeat in the presence of ladies. Whilst in Cincinnati yesterday I thought it utterly impossible to be with you here today for it rained and snowed but it seems God is with us for don't you see this sunshine down upon us 'Barbarians.' We always celebrate with music and song. There are no party lines nor religious lines to divide the German for if there were Germany would have lost in the present world war long ago. Vorwaerts Marsch is our slogan. We should tear ourselves loose from parties and allow no one else to do our thinking. The German has earned his right to the title of being our best citizens. He does not come here alone to fill his sack and then ram home. He comes to permanently locate, establish a home, bring his family and bring them up as good American citizens. Ninety-five percent of German immigrants have become citizens. They are not only willing to enjoy the benefits and advantages of their adopted country but equally eager to assume its burdens as well. We need but refer to history and make comparison with our arch enemy. During the civil war 200,000 German soldiers and 49 German generals fought on the Union side. How many English were there? I myself have been in this country 36 years and a citizen for 31 years and yet when I dare offer a little criticism I'm told 'Go back to the old country.' For twenty years I have been a member of the board of education in Cincinnati, to which no salary is attached, and for 23 years a member of the Union Board of High Schools and if I express my opinion of the present administration I am called a traitor, yes that for criticizing a man who considers that he is the country in place of the servants of the people."

First German Immigrants Extolled

Judge Schwaab now extolled the first German immigrants. He said that previously many had landed on our shores but never received credit for their accomplishments because they had come on Spanish or Norwegian vessels but it was not long after Franz Daniel Pastors and his handful of pioneers landed in Pennsylvania in 1683 that they made their presence felt. Within six years after they voiced their protest against slavery which took many years later to abolish. They, those so-called 'Pennsylvania Dutch,' made Pennsylvania what it is today by tilling the lands, clearing the forests and introducing their methods of agriculture. Our present day manual training and domestic science schools, our modern methods of manufacturing and all such we owe to German influence."

The speaker next connected the prohibition movement in America with the influences that are arrayed against Germany today. He said that fact had become clear since the present war. He said that English money had bought up, with few exceptions, the newspapers and ruled them for no other purpose than to show the American that Germany had no influence here. A few years ago a country wide movement was started to abolish the teaching of the German language in our schools and why? Just simply to kill off all German, character building, the German fondness for personal liberty and his general way of living. All we ask is that all be treated alike. There is nothing in the Bible about regulating one's habits. God allows the poisonous plants to grow in the fields. At the same time he allows chemists to convert such poisons to use in saving lives. Just the same way he left it to mankind to use hops and barley as they saw fit.

"Our president is three or five years younger than I am and as for voting rights I have been thus privileged as long as he and still I am one of those hyphenated fellows who ought to be deported."

"I am not criticizing the nation but have criticized the first servant of the nation, who whenever Germany did not walk the chalk line held that it was a case for war. The emperor of Germany has prevented war because when it would come to a crisis and even his own advisors urged him not to give in he invariably commanded 'You will have to give in because we have enemies enough and because there are so many German-Americans over there.'"

The speaker then recited incidents of English seizing mails of American vessels and bitterly assailed President Wilson's conduct of Mexican affairs, accusing him of not protecting such Americans who had business interests there and on the other hand using his influence with congress against the passage of resolutions warning Americans from traveling the ocean was zone or to prevent American birdlings from fighting on the side of the allies or even to stop England from recruiting soldiers in this country. He also spoke of the big war loans made to the allies as plain evidence of how the Wilson administration was in league with them. He said it had at first been declared as a sure unneutral act to loan any money to the belligerent nations because it was felt that Germany would be the first to knock at our doors and seek financial aid but after it was seen that she could rely upon her own resources the bars were let down and Uncle Sam even began drawing on our reserve funds which are stored away for an emergency that is sure to come and that before long. Even our Mr. Lansing, he said, has held that it is no longer unneutral for an American to enlist in the British army and that he may be a subject of King George and an American at the same time. But we German-Americans just because we only show sympathy for the land where we were born or where father and mother are buried are told that it is wrong and un-American. If pro-British you are little gods. No ship can leave our harbors without President Spring Rice—I mean the attachment to the president, first putting his seal to it. Not even is the Red Cross safe from the people who think if you drink a glass of beer you are sure to go to hell. The German surgeons wished a supply of rubber gloves that they might not infect with their fingers and hands the wounds of soldiers in the trenches. Even this was denied them. And Mr. Wilson, who refuses to lend his good offices towards bringing about peace, says he is neutral.

"The German nation is not composed of Barbarians but what of the Russian assaults into whose hands many German women have fallen. 'Twould have been better if they had shot them. And it is with these that the allies plan to have the Turcos, Hindus and others sweep over Germany and join and the word has been passed out not to spare a single female person in Germany so that there might be no new generation. If we were to join hands with other neutral countries we would easily stop this terrible war. I don't mean to help Germany, but do mean that America could stop the war. Our nation is the one that was destined long ago to stop this slaughter of millions for which we have and are now furnishing the means. The 'humane' Russians and their czar want to free us Germans from that terrible empire."

"If you think that this administration has done its true duty, that is your privilege, but if you think it has not been fair and not dealt on equal terms and slapped you in the face and kicked and buffed you, then I suppose you will vote against it. Only an organized body can accomplish results. The generals on those battlefields over there can outline their plans of action A No. 1 but without soldiers are helpless. Equally true is it that soldiers can not carry on fights successfully without generals. Therefore we have started this Alliance and don't allow that little word 'German' before the 'American' to frighten you. It is simply there to show you that most of our members are of German descent. Every liberal minded man is welcome in our order and if you don't want to co-operate with us in the present war then come in later on for this war will come next year and I mean against prohibition. Let us be prepared. We are not hunting up strife or trouble but it is best to be prepared. The man who is taken by surprise comes out second best. In answer to a critic the other day who said because I had endorsed Hughes all the Democrats were going to vote the Prohibition ticket next time I said that the Democrats would not take responsibility for his remark and that the party which puts Prohibition on her banner in Ohio, will certainly commit suicide," Judge Schwaab said in conclusion.

Heads Bared As Anthem Is Played

Heads were bared when the band struck up the stirring German national anthem "Die Wacht Am Rhein," following which it played "My Country 'Tis of Thee" with which the meeting was concluded. Speakers, band and all adjourned to the Harugari hall where the festivities were continued with true Teutonic hospitality.

A buffet lunch was served during which the band rendered a postillion of waltzes by Farbach and Rossini's famous overture "William Tell," reaching a climax with another rendition of "Die Wacht Am Rhein" during which all present joined in singing and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Judge Schwaab warmly complimented the River City band upon its showing, declaring it to be one of the finest musical organizations it has ever been his pleasure to hear.

He was accompanied to Portsmouth by Henry Albert, of Cincinnati, state secretary of the German-American Alliance.

Prof. J. V. Schiffer's quartet composed of Messrs. Jos. Deekleman, Albert Haag, Pierce D. Hilbert and Frank Switalski, Sr., also came in for warm praise for their stirring selections of old time German folk songs.

Much credit for the success of the day's celebration is due the various committees who had the details in charge. The general committee was composed of Messrs. John Wahrheit, Herman Huels, Sr., and Ludwig Stark.

The entertainment committee was composed of John Richter, John Sudenfeld, Otto Laufer and Julius Hoerfel. The decoration committee was composed of Messrs. Frank Doll, Engelbert Kempf and Herman Huels, Sr.

Wherever Nerv-Worth has been introduced it has gained recognition in medical circles as well as in the home. Persons on the inside have been surprised at the number of cases in which Nerv-Worth has been prescribed by physicians whose knowledge of this tonic's power over nervous ailments has prompted them to use it for their patients. Man Who Came To Kill Wife Is Again In Serious Trouble

Released by Mayor H. H. Kaps in police court Monday and just as Sergeant John Smith started to escort him to the C. & O. ferry John Bowling, a former N. & W. terminal employee, was placed under arrest by Constable Davis, of New Boston.

The latest warrant charged Bowling with bastardy, the charge having been preferred by Miss Florence Ketter. Bowling promptly retained Attorney Nate Gilliland to defend him. The lawyer just before had represented him in the police court case charging him with threatening to kill his wife, Lucille. Through her counsel, Attorney William J. Meyer, she had agreed not to push the charge provided he entered a plea of guilty and left the city. Bowling did plead as suggested and was fined $10 and costs. He had been fined a similar fine and costs Saturday on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He asked the privilege of going to his home in Greenup, Ky., but the arrival of the constable upset all plans, Davis taking him to New Boston.

Sheriff Smith had also served papers upon Bowling, his wife having been granted a temporary injunction restraining him from interfering with her. Bowling had $90 on him when arrested but the two fines and his lawyer's fee put quite a crimp in the roll. The two bottles of acid he also had when arrested were confiscated.

John Blakeman of Eleventh and Chillicothe streets, whom George Bailey of Fourteenth and Union streets, charged with carrying a loaded pistol, was dismissed for lack of evidence. Bailey claimed that Blakeman had called him a nickname and made a gun play Saturday evening. The court warned Blakeman against calling Bailey any nicknames in the future.

F. E. Jarrett, the traveling man who was arrested for jumping a $28.39 board bill at the Washington hotel, pleaded guilty to the charge. Alan N. Jordan appeared against him and told the court the firm with which Jarrett was employed had refused to be responsible for his bills as it was paying him what he earned. The mayor fined Jarrett $50 and costs but said he would suspend part of the fine if he arranged settlement of the board bill.

Carl Farmer, a steelworker, entered a plea of guilty to speeding and was fined $25 which the mayor said he would reduce somewhat if he made satisfactory settlement with Liveryman Geo. Schirrmann whose buggy he had damaged in a recent smashup.

Cases set for hearing this evening were the following: Alex McKinney, a steelworker, charged with wife beating and tearing up furniture at home; a man giving the name of Joe Lust, who was found drunk at Third and Chillicothe streets; Henry Hardin and Will Brooks, team surgeon at Portsmouth.

Frank Cottle, machinist helper at the round house, was assisting in putting an air pump on an engine Saturday at 2 a. m. when he had the nail mashed off of his left finger of his left hand. Dr. S. S. Halderman dressed his finger and he is at home at 2422 Ninth street.

Will Hold Inquest In Joseph Case

Coroner Dr. J. W. Dackler has decided to hold an inquest at his office, corner Ninth and Offshore streets, Tuesday morning, at nine o'clock, in the case of Charles Joseph, Jr., the showworker, who died from the effects of a blow inflicted by Clifford Dickerson, a fellow employee, with a shoe last at the Irving Drew factory October 11.

A number of men employed in the Drew Company's packing room, where the assault occurred, have been subpoenaed as witnesses. Joseph's remains were taken to his former home in St. Mary's, W. Va. (Saturday evening for burial. Dickerson has not yet been apprehended.

Walter Bagley, local Socialist, will deliver an address this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at New Boston, near Macy's store. Everyone is invited to attend.

Fifteen arrests were made Saturday afternoon and evening, the cause for "big business" being payday at the steel mill. A. Merston, Jimmy bus driver of the city, and Jim Odle, who was with him, were arrested for driving past a street car while it was discharging passengers. They were locked up a few minutes and released on $10 bond. Three steel workers were arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, the men singing and being bawdies in an automobile. They gave the names of John Doe, John Ligger and Leslie Ferguson. They were released on bond Sunday morning after being in jail from 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Washington, D. A report issued by the department of agriculture today estimates the earnings of trappers of North America last year at not less than $20,000,000, although exports of raw furs were only about half the normal proportion.

The success of the industry is attributed largely to fur and animal as protective legislation. Thirty-nine states in addition to Alaska now have such legislation.

ORGANIZED LABOR ISSUES APPEAL FOR THE RE-ELECTION OF WILSON

Washington, Oct. 23.—Organized labor's first official appeal to its membership in behalf of President Wilson's re-election was made public Saturday at the American Federation of Labor headquarters. It is in the form of a circular letter to all officers of organized labor, calling on them to hold special meetings, if necessary, to consider the issues of the campaign, and see to it that wage earners go to the polls to protect their interests against Wall street.

The letter is signed by Samuel Gompers, president; James O'Connell, vice-president, and Frank Morrison, secretary, as the Federation's Labor Representation Committee, and it has been sent to the heads of all affiliated organizations. In reviewing the record of the administration, it praises the president's course in foreign affairs, declaring that without war he has secured all the protection and benefits that would have accrued from a successful war, and asserts that at home the labor movement has been able to secure recognition for the rights of human beings and opportunity for all to participate in the affairs of the nation in a degree that never before has been accomplished.

Following is the letter in part: "Greeting: Never at any time within the last 50 years have the workers had more at stake in any political campaign than in the one that is to be decided in the election November 7.

"During the present administration, and particularly in this campaign, there has been developed a clear-cut issue between the workers—the producers—and those who manipulate the products of the labor of others—the exploiters. The issue is represented in the campaign by the conflicting interests represented by labor and Wall street.

"During the present administration the organized labor movement has been able to secure recognition for the rights of human beings and opportunity for all to participate in the affairs of the nation in a degree that has never before been accomplished.

"The dignity of human life and the value of the co-operation of those whose work is necessary to the processes of industry and commerce have been given an important place in consideration of all problems that concern the nation. This recognition has taken the form of legislation necessary to protect the interests of wage-earners and in the ideals of humanity that have guided and directed national policies, both at home and in our relations with other nations.

"Though half of the world has been involved in a terrific conflict, and it seems at times as though our nation must be drawn into the vortex of human slaughter, yet the chief executive of our land has been able to manage the affairs of the nation and the interests of our citizens, so that without the horrors of war he has established and maintained protection of human life and human rights in the somewhat vague domain of international law. Without involving this nation in war, he has secured for us all the protection and all the benefits that would have accrued from a successful international war, and by diplomatic correspondence has achieved the victory of embodying concepts of humanity in international activity, at least in so far as America is concerned.

"The interests that have been seeking to plunge our country into war, not only with European countries, but also with Mexico, are the interests that are represented by the most selfish and most conscienceless element of Wall street. *****

"So far as the internal affairs of our country are concerned, the organized labor movement, as the authorized representative of the wage earners, has demanded from them the right of participation in all the affairs of the nation and has secured recognition of that demand to a degree never before realized. *****

"During the last four years there has been enacted by Congress, and signed by President Wilson, humanitarian protective legislation, unprecedented in amount and scope. Legislative enactment has secured wage earners' fundamental rights necessary for the very existence of the organizations of labor, without which wage earners would have nothing of freedom and no real opportunity for self-satisfaction.

"After mentioning the eight-hour day act, the seamen's law and the child-labor law, the letter adds:

"It is impossible to give the full list of remedial and protective legislation that carries its beneficent influences into the homes of millions of America's workers. We can only refer to that change in the spirit of the nation that is of more consequence than statutory enactment, with broader appreciation of the rights of humanity and the value of the human relationships necessary in the co-ordination which is the basis for industry and commerce. *****

Important Issues Seen
"On November 7, election day, a decision will be made which will determine the future development of our country and the spirit of our national life for years to come.

"As representatives of the organized labor movement, which is the militant protective organization of all the workers, and which stands primarily for human rights, we urge that the issues be considered at a regular or special meeting held by your organization.

"The meeting should be a general one, and, if necessary, called specially for the purpose of seeing that those who have so much at stake should go to the polls to protect their interests.

"There is no doubt that the interests of Wall street and their satellites all over the country are and will continue their activity to retain the special privileges and power that they have secretly and corruptly stolen from the people.

"While properly must we protect and respect, man—men, women and children, human beings—must have the first consideration.

"Wage earners cannot afford to lose their rights and opportunities through negligence and inaction.

"Meet, discuss the great issues to be decided on election day, November 7, then go to the polls and cast your vote as your conscience directs, for labor, justice, freedom and humanity.

Uncle Sam Will Not Enter War, Says Wilson

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 23.—In a speech devoted primarily to a discussion of the need of economic preparedness in the United States, President Wilson told a delegation of farmers, architects and engineers here Saturday that he did not expect the United States to get into war.

"I know that the way we have prepared peace is objected to," said the President, "and that certain gentlemen say they would have taken some other way that would inevitably have resulted in war, but I am not expecting this issue to get into war, partly because I am not expecting these gentlemen to have a chance to make a mess of it."

Taking the work done by the administration for the farmers as his text, Mr. Wilson declared:

"We want the privilege of representing the whole force of the nation."

He demanded that men be put through a "third degree" in respect to where they stand with regard to love of the United States, and said he was glad the campaign was nearly over, "because I am in a hurry to get down to business again."

"There is a great deal of irresponsible talk being indulged in," declared the President in discussing the campaign. "Men are saying things they know perfectly well they cannot make good on, and it disturbs the national council. On the 7th of November we will call time."

Mr. Wilson said the Democratic party had been trying to take the government out of the control of small groups and "square it with the counsel of the whole nation."

POLITICAL SITUATION IN AUSTRIA UNCHANGED; PREMIERS MURDER AN ACT OF POLITICAL CRANK

Vienna, Oct. 23, 12 noon (via London, Oct. 23).—Government circles here regard the killing of Premier Stuerghk as an act of a political crank which can in no wise influence the political situation or the course of the war. This statement was made to the correspondent of the Associated Press in high responsible quarters.

It is pointed out that the time which has elapsed since the murder has shown that the assassin stands alone. His act is disavowed by the socialist party and press and condemned by his father, Victor Adler, socialist member of the lower chamber of the Reichstag. Adler stated that he, his father, had been dining at the hotel when the publisher attacked him. Three shots were fired, all of which took effect, the premier dying instantly.

British Torpedo German Cruiser

Berlin, Oct. 23.—(Via London)—It is semi-officially announced that the vessel torpedoed on Thursday was the small cruiser Muenchen which was slightly damaged and returned to the harbor.

The British admiralty announced late Saturday that a German light cruiser of the Kolberg class had been torpedoed on Thursday morning in the North Sea by a British submarine. The statement said that when last seen the cruiser was steaming slowly toward German waters and was in evident difficulty. The Muenchen was built in 1904, and is a vessel of 4,350 tons.

21 DROWNED WHEN LAKE STEAMER SINKS; ONE SHIP IS MISSING

Cleveland, O., Oct. 23.—While Captain Walter Grashaw, sole survivor in a crew of twenty-two men of the steamer James B. Colgate, was battling for life in a hospital at Conneaut, Ohio, today following his rescue yesterday, marine circles were almost convinced that the steamer Merida, 42 hours overdue at Buffalo, had also been a victim of Friday night's storm on Lake Erie which sank two other boats in addition to the Colgate.

The Merida is a 380 foot steel boat bound from Fort William, Canada, to Buffalo. No word has come from her today to her local managers here. She carried a crew of 25. The Merida is owned by the Valley Camp Shipping Co. and managed by James Playfair, of Midland, Ontario. Local managers refuse to admit her loss but conceded their fear for her safety.

"Captain Grashaw of the Colgate was picked up in Lake Erie on a life raft by the Marquette and Bessemer car ferry number two after he had been at the mercy of the storm for 34 hours. He lives in Cleveland.

Ooray, P. H. S. Finds Team It Was Able To Beat; Gridiron News

Local Warriors Beat Chillicothe, 12 To 0

Portsmouth H. S. 12, Chillicothe H. S. 0.

Spread the good news. The Portsmouth high school football warriors won their first battle of the season Saturday when they defeated the husky Chillicothe team on the Millbrook gridiron by a score of 12 to 0.

Captain Pat Shoemaker and Quinn made the touchdowns in the first half. One of the best football crowds of the past three seasons was on hand, the benches being crowded. The game started at 2:30 sharp with Earl Zoller in charge.

Chillicothe kicked off and Captain Pat received the oval and ran it to the 30 yard line. This local appeared to be a new team in comparison with the team that bucked Ironton two weeks ago here. The locals displayed all kinds of pep and started off like a house on fire. Lett and a line plunger by Shoemaker carried the ball over. Shoemaker failed to kick goal. Three minutes had not passed when the ball was first pushed over.

P. H. S. kicked and Chillicothe received on the 30 yard line. Chillicothe made their 10 yards but were held for 30 yards. Line, P. H. S. took the ball, taking the ball, Shoemaker made a long run around right end for 30 yards. Lett went through left end for 7 yards and Quinn carried the oval 5 more and on a fake run Shoemaker made 8 more. This brought the ball to the 2 yard line and Quinn was given the ball and lined up through the line for 36 yards. This ended the day's scoring for Pat failed to kick goal.

Chillicothe carried the ball to the 40 yard line on the kick off. Here a successful forward pass was worked. Right end Wilson getting the ball. He was headed for the locals' goal and all that kept Wilson from scoring was P. H. S. who made a pretty tackle and brought Wilson down after a 15 yard run. This ended the first quarter C. H. S. having the ball on the P. H. S. 30 yard line. They lost the ball on downs and as a starter for P. H. S. Lett ran 30 yards around end. A pass to Quinn netted 5 yards. Johns took it upon himself to make a gain and sending a hot dashed through the line for 40 yards. Pat made a yard through the line and Anderson made a good gain on a tackle play.

Lett made 5 yards, Pat 3, around right end, Quinn 2 through the line but Johns lost 7 yards one of the visitors getting through the line and tackling him. Williams replaced Johns at quarter. P. H. S. being within 20 yards of the C. H. S. goal. Quinn and Shoemaker on line plungers carried the piskin to the 10 yard line and C. H. S. held like a wall the locals loving the ball. C. H. S. punted 30 yards, Williams receiving.

SECOND HALF

Johns replaced Williams, Curry went in at full for the visitors and Gardner to Harker's place at left tackle. P. H. S. kicked, Marshall receiving and carrying the ball to 30 yard line. Curry made 3 yards through the line. Bazler kept his backfield men hitting the line and going through end for steady gains. P. H. S. being pushed back to the middle of the field, C. H. S. losing the ball on downs. Pat made a big gain around right end and Quinn was sent through the line. Anderson made 10 yards on another tackle play and Shoemaker made 3 yards

The thickest of the fray. Too much cannot be said of Quarterback Johns who is a capital demon. Lett and Quinn did their share of the heavy work. Anderson also came in for praise. Gebres and Matthews performed well at end, these two breaking up the C. H. S. interference in fine style.

Chillicothe and P. H. S. did not meet on the gridiron last season, the one game booked being cancelled by C. H. S. at the last minute. P. H. S. has no return game in Chillicothe.

One of the big changes in the local team was the splendid interference offered the man carrying the ball. The team has been lacking in this point but steady practice in this line is beginning to show its effect.

Marling was shifted to tackle in Perkins' place. Higgins played well at center in Marling's place.

Halfback Overly of the visitors made big holes for his teammates but a P. H. S. man would tackle the man with the ball before he could make a gain through the hole.

The High School Athletic association is proving its worth. A large crowd of students was on hand and cheered the locals to victory. The band was also present and helped out with the enthusiasm. The game followed by a hundred boys marched around the gridiron between halves. Yell leaders, John Purdon and Dana Jones are always on the job.

P. H. S. plays in Ashland next Saturday. The next game at home is on Saturday, November 4, when Gallipolis opposes the locals.

NOTES OF THE VICTORY

Did you see that parade Saturday evening? The football team, substitutes and loyal fans of the school and the Chillicothe players in automobiles met at the high school at 7 o'clock. Headed by the team band and with plenty of red fire the boys marched down the street to Chillicothe, south on Chillicothe to Second, west on Second to the mayor's office, and then to the high school.

Prof. Henry Eccles, coach of the Chillicothe team was here last year with the Jackson high school warriors. He is a man who believes in a square deal and after the game complimented Referee Zoller on his fine work. Coach Eccles had three substitutes in the backfield at the opening of the game, Fullback Curry had a bad knee but got into the game in the second half; Brainer and Butlerford, halfback and quarterback were put off the team for smoking on the train Saturday morning. Quarterback Bazler was the acting captain. C. H. S. has won 2 and lost 2 games this season. Bazler and Overly did good work for the visitors. Curry made big gains while he was in and Wilson played well at end.

Captain Pat Shoemaker is deserving of praise the way he handled the Red and Blue warriors. Pat was always in

Game Was Cancelled

Manager Gus Putz of Portsmouth's strongest independent football eleven received a long distance telephone message cancelling the game.

Next Sunday the locals play in Ashland, word having been received that the mayor has agreed to allow the game to be played. It will be the first Sunday game in Ashland for several years. Ashland won here two weeks ago by a score of 6 to 0.

Late Saturday night Manager Putz received a long distance telephone message cancelling the game.

The Shamrocks retired early Saturday evening expecting a hard battle Sunday.

O. S. U. Beat Illinois

Playing Illinois off its feet by a series of bewildering plays Ohio State turned almost sure defeat into sweet victory Saturday when in the last two minutes of play the Buckeye eleven beat Illinois at Urbana, Ill., 7 to 6.

Right Halfback Harley skirted one of the wings of old Illinois and he scored a touchdown and then booted the ball between the goal posts, the game ending 7 to 6 in favor of O. S. U. The Buckeye team after pulling up an ordinary game in the first half came back strongly in the second and played Illinois to a standstill.

But Hartwig is a game boy and he has never entered one complaint against his lot. He firmly believes the clouds will roll away and that he will be gradually restored to his former good health.

He has no means of livelihood and no doubt would appreciate any contribution that local fans would care to make.

Passes And Punts

For the first time in three years Michigan beat the Michigan Aggies Saturday, 9 to 0. Maubelch scored the Wolverines only touchdown.

After waiting 35 years Northwestern finally beat Chicago Saturday, 10 to 0.

Case beat Mt. Union before 5000 football lovers Saturday, the game being played in Alliance. The score was 12 to 0.

Wisconsin beat the Haskell Indians Saturday, 1 to 0. Both teams played brilliantly.

Prior old U. of C. Ohio Northern beat the Cincinnatians on Redland field Saturday, 9 to 0.

Marshall College of Huntington beat Kentucky Wesleyan 10 to 0. That's all.

Miami walked all over Kenyon Saturday at Oxford, O. George Little's team winning 69 to 0.

Ottawa beat Ohio Wesleyan 8 to 0 Saturday. The game was played in Dayton before a large crowd.

Penn State Is Defeated

In one of the best games ever witnessed in the east Pennsylvania defeated its bitterest rival, Penn State Saturday, 15 to 0. Graves Williams of this city was switched to right half instead of fullback and put up his usual high class article of football. Pennsylvania scored in the last three quarters. Feeling high in the game and it was further enlivened by several fistic encounters.

FATIMA

A Sensible Cigarette

More men are now smoking SENSIBLY—
MEN ARE willing to think a little more carefully today even about the cigarette they choose.

That is good sense. For if an otherwise good cigarette is unfortunate in its blend—if it disturbs after continued smoking—it is not worth while.

The one reason why Fatimas appeal strongly to so many thinking men is that they do not disturb. Fatimas are truly comfortable—comfortable to throat as well as tongue. And they always leave a man feeling fine and "fit" even after a long-smoking day.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

J. W. Dawson, of Charleston, coal operator and business man, nominated by the Republicans of West Virginia for elector at large, has asked the central committee of the party to remove his name from the ticket, as he has decided to support Wilson for president. Giving his reason therefor Mr. Dawson says he has read the public addresses of Charles Evans Hughes and that in them he can find no good reason why the administration at Washington should be changed. Regardless of the individuality of Hughes a vote for him would be assisting to turn over the destinies of the United States and the destinies of 100,000,000 people to "the Old Guard, dominated and controlled by such men as Barnes, Crane, Penrose and Smoot and I will not be a party to such treachery to our country."

Mr. Dawson's change of political front which is the most surprising and astounding in West Virginia's sensational politics of the recent past, will be set down by his late fellow partisans as the eccentricities of an individual, but the better view in which to regard it is an evidence of the broader and better spirit that is developing in the politics of the country. Partisanship is no longer possessed of such absolute sway over the masses. Personal opinion and individual thought and consequent independence, are becoming more general. Not only policies are becoming better understood, but conditions, candidates themselves and possible eventualities are being more clearly studied and a keener understanding of all arrived at. The period of objection, protest and mere fault-finding is happily gone, let us hope never to return. In its place has come the demand for action and the reasons against it, as well as for it. No longer is the partisan that a thing is wrong or a blunder. The people want to know why it is stated so and what is going to take place of it. In the face of this, too, the country is being confronted with vital new problems and the solution of these is looked upon as more serious and immediate than the matter of to whom the offices shall be given. Perhaps, we could have no more striking demonstration of the gravity with which these are viewed and the growing spirit of courage and independence than in the case of the West Virginia citizen herein referred to. Considering his affiliations of the past his association with party activities and the peculiar delicacy of his immediate situation, the certain knowledge that he would be charged with disloyalty and treachery to his party, it may well be imagined the tremendous struggle he must have with himself to determine on his final course.

THEIR UNHAPPY ESTATE

Enthusiasm among local candidates for our good young governor is not rampant since his speech here Friday night, though this is not to say it was bubbling over theretofore. One wouldn't strain the truth greatly to allege there was a boiling over the other way. The cause and the therefore is a singular neglect or oversight on the part of both the speakers of the evening, but more particularly the good young governor, whose "strong hold" is spreading the con. Now, if there is anything the lowly county candidates loves it is to be patted on the back and wrapped around the neck, figuratively speaking by the fellow-higher up, furnishing him with the blots to swell and parade around the next day before a constituency that listened with bated breath to the distinction conferred upon him. But nothing of the sort occurred at Kendall's hall. There was a deathly silence on the part of the brilliant orators in regard to the county ticket and there was no trumpet call to save the tail with the hide and elect every county candidate. The silence with regard to Herrick was equally funereal. There was a passing reference to the connection of the smooth Senator Trempier in regard to some bills, but outside of that only Hughes and the good young governor occupied the boards of talk, excepting, of course, that Wilson and Cox seemed to be very much on the mind and the tongue as well.

Speaking for the good young governor it may be said in apology for his failure to lend a helping word to the county candidates that he has troubles of his own as a candidate and naturally those of the little fellows don't count so much with him.

Misery loves company. The local G. O. P. candidates can find it by traveling over to Guernsey. In that county they were so puffed that a delegation took the trouble to travel all the way to Columbus to lay complaint before the state committee that though they had got up a nice meeting for the good young governor, hired a brass band and put in the papers an imposing array of vice presidents, regardless of whether they were for Wilson or Candidate Hughes—just as was done here—the aforesaid good young governor never gave a boost to anyone except himself—just as was done here too.

We'll have to admit that when it comes to a musical festival Cincinnati takes no back seat for any one. She puts up the money lavishly and gets the best there is.

Three days of cloud and rain became but a nebulous memory with the dawning of a perfect day like Sunday.

The peerless is getting her share of prosperity. Local merchants tell of increase of trade that would be incredible were it not for the well known fact that they are not given to drawing the long bow when it comes to talking about business.

A DESPERATE CASE

THE FEDERAL CHILD LABOR LAW

(The Machinists' Journal)

The enactment of the Federal Child Labor law by this Congress will free nearly three-quarters of a million children from industrial slavery. It is a long step toward freeing nearly one and one-half million other children who labor, but the product of whose labor does not enter into interstate commerce.

In 1827 a union organization of workers in the city of New York declared that no child under 16 years of age should be permitted to work in gainful industry. That was the first recorded effort to abolish or to avoid child slavery in the United States. The evil was then only a little one comparatively. But in the nearly one hundred years from that first effort to the day President Wilson and Congress emancipated the children, the evil grew until it cast as black a shadow over the republic as the black shadow of negro slavery. The foul immorality of mankind's "feeding upon its young" aside, the estimated three-quarter million children in factories, mines, quarries and sweatshops reduced the standard of living and of wages in nearly every worker's home. The material danger to the republic and to industrial security was that every child worker or potential worker was a competitor for the job of his father and the jobs of other fathers.

Jerome Jones, labor editor and president of the Southern Labor Congress, says:

"There is a strong connection between child labor and low wages. There is no doubt in my mind but that if the mills had to pay as much for child labor as for adult labor there would be no more child labor problem. The child is thus brought into competition with adult labor, and what is the result? Both child and adult get starvation wages!"

Raising the standard of child life means raising the standard of all industrial life. Justice to the children will necessarily mean more justice to the grown workers of the nation.

If it has been true through any cause, the cause of greed, or of panic, or of business incompetence, "the child labor" that the children would starve if they did not work, then the wages of the father must be enough at least to equal the combined wages of the family. The poverty in the vicious circle of poverty and child labor must vanish. The beneficent circle of education must widen.

The fight of nearly one hundred years now brings a great victory, won by the American labor movement, by the National Child Labor Committee, and by President Wilson. The tribute which workers throughout the nation willingly pay to the President is voiced by the commendations and the rejoicings of their spokesmen.

Labor and the nation as a whole have made a splendid advance.

Perfectly astounding all this trouble Democratic free trade is making. The iron and steel mills are so crowded with domestic orders that they absolutely refuse to take orders of consequence for delivery before long into 1917.

It is not finding fault with the actions of others, but the worth of what you do yourself that counts.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.
O. O. MEINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 23.—The announcement that the elimination of the cloak room tip habit has been started has been followed by the invention of a hat and coat hook that the patron may use to lock his hat and coat and the key is carried as a check. The magnitude of the cloak-room tip business is difficult for an outsider to understand.

A few months ago two vaudeville actors, giving a trial performance in Shanley's cabaret show, introduced a bit of "business" which aroused much laughter and applause. The man entered in evening clothes and sat at a table. The girl followed, attired as a check room attendant and forcibly took his hat and coat. Then they sang a song. One couplet ran:

"I only paid twelve-fifty for that coat when it was new;
I've paid enough for checking it to make the price of two.
The act was not continued despite its success in pleasing the patrons. The man who owns the cloak room and hat rack concession at Shanley's objected to it. He said it would hurt his business. He pays $7,500 a year for the privilege of taking care of the hats and wraps at Shanley's and, after paying this concession money and paying the wages of about ten attendants, he realizes a substantial profit.

He does not operate at Shanley's alone. He has similar concessions at a number of places along Broadway. It was he who introduced the "choker" collar worn by nearly all check girls. It prevents them from making way with tips by dropping coins down their necks.

The new patent hook is a big blow to him and that grating noise you hear is the gnashing of his ivorys.

"The Modern Dance Magazine" is the latest publication for the exclusive consumption of the dancers. It's a letting editorial is headed: "Just for We Dancers." Us boys and girls will all enjoy it.

New York newspapers have finally started to print the daily curb market quotations—which is an indication of the prestige that the curb brokers have gained during the era of their prosperity of the past few months.

Heretofore the curb was not taken seriously by the big newspapers. Now their quotations run side by side with the other stocks. One of the big factors in placing the curb in a more dignified position is James O'Brien, who has been handling the much talked of Calumet and Jerome copper stocks.

He is one of the charter members of the New York Curb Market Association. I met him the other day and incidentally mentioned the fact that I had come from the Central Park Zoo and had seen a fourteen feet snake try to squeeze James O'Reilly, a keeper, to death.

"Probably wild at being driven out of Ireland," was his cryptic comment.

A building has been rented on lower Fifth Avenue by a woman who will conduct a cigarette shop for female patrons. It will be very hoity-toity and will have several de luxe smoking rooms where female shoppers may rest and dally with the cigarette. The shop is an indication of how the habit of smoking cigarettes has made headway among the gentler sex.

Nearly all of the cafes permit smoking now—whereas only a few years ago it was done very secretly. The story is told of a waiter at Jack's, the all-night restaurant, where women are not allowed to smoke. A gay party entered in the early morning hours.

The men lighted their cigars and the women their cigarettes. In a short time the waiter came over and frowned upon the women. "Say," he said, "where do you ladies think you are—at the Ritz?"

The Grouch's Mistake

He had a grouch, a lovely one,
And tenderly he nursed it.
He couldn't let the great world run
But sat up nights and cursed it.

His curses, as they're apt to do,
Came back unto the giver,
Set his digestion all askew
And quite upset his liver.

Now, had he only known his his,
He would have tried to hold it
Inside his vest, that grouch of his,
Or writ it up and sold it.

Like certain writers of today
Who scold the world forever,
While people roll their eyes and say:
"My goodness, ain't he clever."

Usually The Way

The teacher was trying to make his pupils understand that all good comes from one source.

As an illustration, he told them of building a house and putting water pipes with taps in all the rooms, these pipes not being connected with the main in the street. "Suppose I turn on a tap and no water comes, what is the matter?"

He naturally supposed that some of the boys would answer that the water was not turned on at the main; but they didn't. On the contrary, one boy at the foot of the class called out:

"You didn't pay your water rent!" —Answers.

The "Eliminator" Got Busted

Two men were in the dining car ordering breakfast. The first one said to the waiter:

"(George, you may bring me two fried eggs, some broiled Virginia ham, a pot of coffee and some rolls."

"Yassa."

"The other said:

"You may bring me the same."

"Yassa."

The second man then called the waiter and remarked:

"Just eliminate the eggs."

"Yassa."

In a moment the waiter came back.

"Excuse me, boss, but jest what did you all say about dem eggs?"

"I said just eliminate the eggs."

"Yassa."

And he hurried again to the tiny kitchen.

In another moment he came back once more, leaned confidentially and penitently over the table, and said:

GIRLS CAUSE OF MURDER FATAL AFFRAY IN PIKE COUNTY

Following a quarrel over two girls named Gragg, at the Fairmont church, near Latham, Pike county, Sunday evening at nine o'clock, Ben Jackson, 23, farmer, shot and instantly killed Floyd Stulz, 23, farmer, of the same vicinity. Immediately after the shooting Sheriff P. E. Entler and Marshal C. W. Miller, Waverly, went to the scene of the shooting, which is about four miles northwest of Latham, and placed Jackson under arrest.

Jackson admitted to the authorities, it is reported, that he shot Stulz.

Whitaker-Glessner Co-operative Restaurant Now Ready To Serve

The establishing of the Whitaker-Glessner Co-operative Association, which opened its doors Monday morning, is the direct outcome of inspiration.

One day last winter, when the snow laid deep upon the ground, Judge A. Z. Blair, attorney for the Whitaker-Glessner Steel Co., happened to be standing at the "Rudy Kountz Corner" waiting for a street car to carry him to Portsmouth. Looking down the street he saw a woman, with babe in arms, trudging through the snow, carrying a basket, which the Judge learned contained her husband's dinner. He learned from the woman that she lived up Mun's Run and that she had walked more than one-half mile over the snowy ground in order that her husband might have his dinner on time. She had done this many times, saying that her husband worked hard and that she thought it no more than her duty to see that he had a good dinner. The woman was tired and cold, while the little babe shivered and cried.

Right then and there Judge Blair had visions of a restaurant for the steel company—one that was in keeping with the great institution and one that would give the hard muscled employees a square meal at a reasonable price—one where they could get warm, palatable food—served in a big airy room where the employees could fellowship together during the meal hours.

Acting upon the inspiration he received from seeing the good woman carrying her husband's dinner, the Judge retraced his steps and in an eloquent manner laid his quickly conceived restaurant plans before Manager Andrew Glass. That official, who is ever mindful for the interest of the big army of loyal employees, immediately joined in with a loud "amen." The result was that within a short time Judge Blair was commissioned to go ahead and arrange for a restaurant, one that would meet every single requirement.

And the Judge worked hard. He visited many restaurants in the larger cities. He spared neither time nor money in getting the best possible, and an inspection of the restaurant will convince anyone that a better equipped, better arranged one could not be found than the one that opened its doors at the local steel plant Monday morning.

In all more than $20,000 were expended and if more money is still needed to remedy any defects or add any conveniences, all the Judge has to do is to order it done and send the bill to headquarters. The steel company, which does things on a large scale, never hesitates when it can in any way add to the welfare of their 2500 employees.

John Sudenfeld came dangerously near being run over by an automobile on Ninth street, near Gay, Sunday afternoon. He and several friends had just left the German day meeting in Truney Park and started towards Illar Gari hall. John stepping from a curb failed to observe an auto coming west and but for Charles Stamm quickly jerking him back would surely have been struck down.

Engineers Hear Plea For National Assoc'n

A change in balls is blamed for the small number who turned out Saturday evening to the meeting of stationary engineers in Odd Fellows' Hall. A great many did not know where the hall was located and did not take the trouble to find it. Several present, including the speakers of the evening, F. P. Brownstead, Special Deputy, and H. Burnell, of New London, who accompanied him, had trouble in locating the hall.

Ten engineers were present at 8:30 when the meeting was to begin. Mr. Brownstead's late arrival, causing a late start. The meeting was held under the order of the National Association of Stationary Engineers. National President John Kerly, and Dan Delaney, traveling representative of the National Association, of Cincinnati, failed to arrive.

Edward S. Lowry, president of the Ohio Local No. 77, National Association of Engineers, called the meeting to order. The object of the meeting was to boost the membership of the local and national association. The National Association of Engineers has no connection with the International Union of E. E. Mr. Brownstead in his talk urged the local engineers to affiliate with the National Association. He spoke of the benefits offered by the National Association and gave many reasons why every stationary engineer should become a member.

He told of how the National Association had been instrumental in getting placed on the statute books of the states laws protecting the engineers in many ways. He told of how they had got behind the different measures and worked till they were made a law. No applications were received, but several present signified their intention of joining.

MOTHER AND SON INJURED WHEN STOVE BLOWS UP

The lives of two persons, Mrs. William McClees and her six year old son, George, were imperiled Sunday morning in a gas explosion, which occurred in their home, 539 Front street.

When Mrs. McClees put a match to the burner in the oven of her stove an explosion followed and she and her son, who was standing alongside of her were blown half way across the room.

A tongue of flame reached the face of her son and he was badly burned about the head, face and arms. The child's condition is serious as it is thought he inhaled the flames. The force of the explosion was sufficient to wrest the door from the hinges and striking Geo. McClees it hurled him to one corner of the room. Mrs. McClees was burned, but not seriously.

The family had just moved into a house at 539 Front street and Mrs. McClees started to get breakfast on the stove when it exploded. It is thought the explosion resulted from a leaky burner. Geo. McClees is recovering from an attack of scarlet fever.

The gasket which was repaired Sunday evening was blown out early Sunday morning, but the plant was operated until evening so that the people would not be inconvenienced.

Bride Of A Month Is Seeking Divorce, Serious Charge Made VISITORS TO CITY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Bowling, is the experience of Lucille Bowling, who entered the court of common pleas Monday and asked for a divorce, a temporary injunction restraining her husband from bothering her, and the restoration of her maiden name, Lucille Heddleson.

Although married September 7, this year, the petitioner says that beginning with the first of October, her husband began to be extremely cruel and threatened to kill her. On October 18, the defendant is alleged to have threatened to disfigure her with acids and that the plaintiff was compelled to leave. This same day the defendant was arrested, the petition says, by the police, and bottles of carbolic and nitric acids were found.
